POWER STRIKE IS UNBROKEN IN PITTSBURGH

CAPITOL HOSTELRIES HEATLESS; SHIPS STILL TIED UP

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Although Pittsburgh's 21-day power strike remained as strongly in effect as ever Monday, the streets and buses were running again.

AFL streetcar operators and bus drivers, after remaining off the job for 18 days in respect for picket lines set up by the striking independent power union, voted unanimously in favor of a back to work movement and by Monday night buses and trolleys had begun rolling.

However, the deadlocked power tangle continued to hold the city in a vise. Most downtown streets were unlighted, many emergency power units were set up in the streets, and many downtown workers wore sweaters or coats to keep warm. The striking union, the Independent Association of Employees of the Duquesne Light Co., has asked a 20 per cent wage increase. The company has offered 5 per cent.

Picketing In Hollywood
Meantime, here was the situation in other disputes across the nation:

Maritime: Chairman Frank J. Taylor of the east and gulf coast operators negotiating committee invited representatives of the AFL masters, mates and pilots to meet with the committee in New York today to consider a proposal which he said "should be acceptable" to end the 14-day-old strike. Taylor said the proposal thereafter would be taken up with the CIO Marine Engineers Beneficial Association. Terms of the proposal were not announced. The deck officers seek a 30 per cent wage increase, the marine engineers a 35 per cent increase, and both ask preferential hiring.

Films: Technicians of the AFL International Alliance of Theatrical Stage Employees (IATSE) decided to respect picket lines set up at the major movie studios by a rival, the AFL Conference of Studio Union; 200 pickets were arrested at the main gates of Columbia Studio because, police said, they disregarded a court order restraining them from mass picketing.

Newsmen Seek Raise
Hotels: Guests in 18 Washington hotels faced the prospect of no heat and no hot water after striking AFL unions announced hotel firemen had walked off their jobs. Samuel Levine, attorney for the striking unions, said the firemen voted to leave in sympathy with 5,000 service employees who have been on strike four days in a wage dispute. Another wage dispute, in which a walkout of 2,000 members of the AFL Hotel and Restaurant Employees Alliance has closed eight Pittsburgh hotels, headed for special conciliation, with a three-man U. S. conciliation service panel planning day and night sessions until an agreement is reached.

Newspapers: A special meeting with union heads and newspaper officials in Springfield, Mass., was planned in an attempt to provide a newspaper by Sunday. An 18-day strike by mechanical unions closed the city's four papers—operated under a single management. The strike was called Sept. 26 when the unions announced demands for contracts providing union recognition and uniform working hours and wage scales for the 175 employees directly involved in Philadelphia, the Phila-

High Yugoslav Officials Cut Off By Church

BY GEORGE BRIA

Vatican City, Oct. 14. (AP)—The Roman Catholic church declared today that all Yugoslav government officials of that faith responsible for the trial and conviction in Zagreb of Archbishop Alojzije Stepinac had incurred the grave penalty of excommunication.

The announcement was made by the congregation of the council, which said that the trial of the archbishop, head of the Catholic church in Yugoslavia, "had made a profound impression in all the Catholic world and in civilized society itself."

Archbishop Stepinac was sentenced to 16 years at hard labor following his conviction on charges of collaborating with the axis and the Ustachi of the Croatian puppet regime, and of forcing Yugoslavs to become Roman Catholics.

Several Italian newspapers interpreted the announcement to mean that Marshal Tito, head of the Yugoslav government, had been excommunicated, and announced this in bold headlines.

Authoritative Vatican quarters, said, however, that Tito's "exact status is not known," and added that "the Vatican has made no announcement of this kind." A Catholic prelate said last week that the Vatican had no information that Tito was, or ever had been, a Catholic.

Some observers speculated that the ex-communication might be followed by rupture of diplomatic relations between the Vatican and Yugoslavia.

Bishop Joseph P. Hurley of St. Augustine, Fla., is presently regent of the apostolic nunciature in Belgrade. The Yugoslav government maintains a secretary and counselor in its legations at the Vatican, but has not appointed a minister.

Excommunication is, next to Anathema, the gravest punishment which the Catholic church can impose. It cuts Catholics off from all public services and prayers of the church, from ecclesiastical burial, and from social intercourse with faithful Catholics.

CONVICTS FOUND ON GROSSE ILE

Escapers From Milan Caught By Marines In Swamp Manhunt

Detroit, Oct. 14. (AP)—Two of three prisoners who escaped Thursday from the federal correctional institution at Milan, Mich., were re-captured this afternoon after an all-day manhunt through the woods and swamps of Grosse Ile.

A party of marines from the Grosse Ile Naval Air Station who had been called into the search by the FBI and state officers caught the two fugitives in an abandoned garage on the northern tip of the island.

The two were identified by officers as Philip H. Comer and William W. Lake. The third fugitive, Norman Peter Robinson, remained at large. All three are Canadian-born. Comer and Lake are serving terms for immigration law violations and Robinson for a Mann act conviction.

Ordered to surrender by two marines who entered the garage, the men fled through a rear door into the midst of a dozen other marines and sailors who had surrounded the building. The men were taken to the county jail.

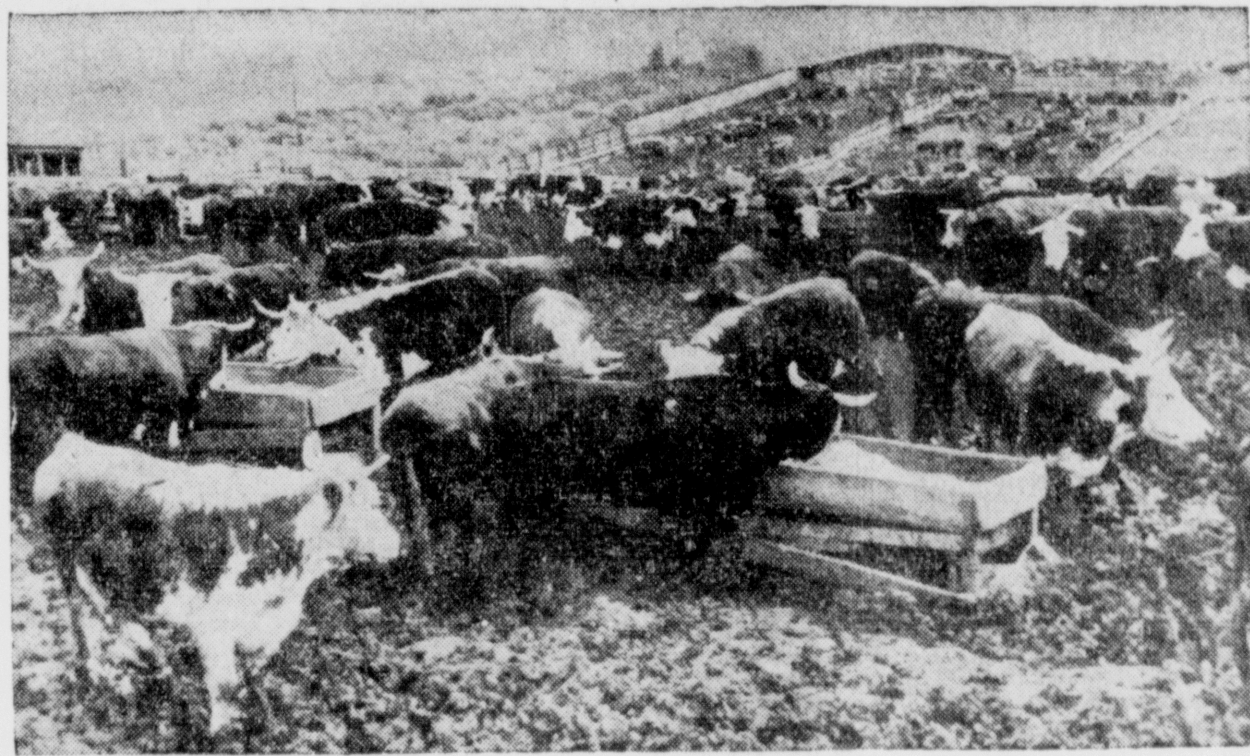

Approximately 200 marines and sailors had joined other officers in a systematic combing of the island. More than six square miles had been covered when the two marines, Preston Tarett, 17, of Kentucky, and Louis Nills, 18, of Lansing, Mich., flushed the fugitives.

Ford Calls 100,000 Back; Open Hearth Dispute Is Settled

Detroit, Oct. 14. (AP)—Full production resumed today at the Ford Motor Co. with recall of 100,000 workers laid off over the week-end because of a sheet steel shortage and return to work of 900 open hearth employees idled in a health hazard dispute.

Company and union officials said a test would be made this week of the use of sodium fluoride in the open hearth department. Thirteen crane operators struck Oct. 2 claiming the operation was injurious to their health.

The stoppage had forced shutdown of the department. A return to work was approved at meetings Sunday of Ford Local 600, CIO United Auto Workers.

FRANCE READY FOR NEW START

Constitution For Fourth Republic Approved By Small Majority

Paris, Oct. 14. (AP)—France, whose political structure is now set by the constitution approved Sunday, focused her attention today on the November general elections which will implement the new charter for the fourth Republic.

Meanwhile, the nation kept an ear cocked for a possible declaration by Gen. De Gaulle on the results of yesterday's referendum in which the new basic law of the land was adopted by only a small majority.

The people will vote Nov. 10 to choose a 617-member national assembly, chief legislative body of the new parliament.

Based on France's total voting strength, only 36 per cent of the people voted approval of the constitution. This was believed due largely to De Gaulle's denunciation of it for giving the assembly too much control over the executive and judiciary branches of the government.

With returns still trickling in from empire outposts, complete official referendum results were still lacking, but the charter apparently had been approved by about 1,100,000 votes. Some 8,000,000 voters had abstained from balloting.

The incomplete count was: for the constitution—9,174,050; against—3,060,471.

Black Market Ring Reported Bringing Meat By Airplane

Detroit, Oct. 15. (AP)—Federal and state officials today were checking reports of a black market ring allegedly delivering meat into Michigan by airplane.

Dr. Robert Willson, chief of meat inspectors at the board of health, said the inquiry started following seizure of 600 pounds of black market meat at two downtown restaurants.

Claude Roy, manager of one of the restaurants, Willson said, told OPA officials that meat was being flown into Adrian, Mich., from where it was delivered to Detroit by auto.

Willson said police have not learned whether the meat supply was coming from Canada or the West, but said other Detroit restaurants are being checked in an effort to track down the Adrian source.

Roy has been convicted of possessing uninspected meat by traffic and ordinance Judge George T. Murphy, who set Oct. 22 for sentencing.

Gerald L. K. Smith Escapes Jail Term On Court Contempt

Chicago, Oct. 14. (AP)—A 60-day sentence for contempt of court imposed upon Gerald L. K. Smith, leader of the America First Party, was set aside by the first district Illinois appellate court today.

A 30-day sentence against his publicity agent, Don Lohbeck, also was voided.

Smith and Lohbeck were cited for contempt April 8 and April 12 after Municipal Judge John V. McCormick learned a press release had been distributed in the courtroom during the trial of Father Arthur W. Terminiello on a disorderly conduct charge resulting from a tumultuous Smith rally here February 7.

Lohbeck allegedly distributed a press release written by Smith saying the disorderly conduct trial was a "cold blooded persecution."

Random Shot From Cousin's Gun Kills Boy At Rapid River

Shot through the heart by a bullet fired at random from a rifle in the hands of his 10-year-old cousin, Clifford Mosier, 12, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Mosier, was killed Sunday at 3.30 o'clock, while hunting on the farm of his parents about 3 miles north of Rapid River.

The gun was fired by Melvin Gustafson, 10, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bert Gustafson, who live on a farm not far from the Mosiers.

It was Delta county's first fatality of the 1946 hunting season.

Clifford was hunting with John Gustafson, 17, brother of Melvin, while Melvin was accompanied by Harold Mosier, 11, brother of Clifford.

RAILROAD RATE CASE REVIEWED

Supreme Court To Hear Arguments Of States And 33 Carriers

BY WILLIAM T. PEACOCK

Washington, Oct. 14. (AP)—The supreme court agreed today to hear arguments in the battle between southern and northern states over railroad freight rates.

Acting on some 400 petitions and motions accumulated during its summer recess, the high tribunal said it would review challenges of Interstate Commerce Commission orders reducing class freight rates 10 per cent in the south and increasing them 10 per cent in the east and north.

Fighting the orders, nine northern states and the governors of six New England states had asked the court for a hearing. They were joined by 33 railroads.

A date for the supreme court hearing will be set later.

The court also agreed to pass on: 1. A justice department suit to prohibit the sale of the Pullman company's sleeping car operating business to 43 railroads. The department contends it would foster monopoly. The railroads have offered $75,000,000 for the business.

2. An appeal by three Texas newspapers from contempt of court findings in which each was sentenced to three days in jail.

3. The validity of trials by a "blue ribbon jury," challenged on the grounds that persons from lower economic walks of life are excluded from such juries.

Buffalo Meat Goes Big In Minneapolis

Minneapolis, Oct. 14. (AP)—Meat was plentiful for a few hours at two markets here today and buyers snapped it up in a hurry despite prices ranging up to $1.75 a pound. Ten thousand pounds were sold.

The meat came from a private buffalo herd. Buffalo meat, a luxury item, is not covered by price control.

Stew meat and "buffaloberger" were priced at $1.00 a pound, steaks at $1.75. Warren Witt, operator of the market, said one man telephoned from Los Angeles to try to order steaks, another telegraphed from Cincinnati, and scores wanted to place telephone orders from various Minnesota communities.

FIVE FORMER NAZI NATIONS GET TREATIES

PACTS ASSAILED AS UNSATISFACTORY BY MOLOTOV

BY LOUIS NEVIN

Paris, Oct. 14. (AP)—The Paris conference completed tonight its task of writing peace treaties for five former Nazi satellite nations after Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov assailed portions of the pacts as "unsatisfactory."

Molotov accused the United States of attempting to dominate the conference, and said he would insist that the big four foreign ministers, who will meet in New York Nov. 4, reconsider parts of the treaties, with Italy, Finland, Romania, Bulgaria and Hungary. The ministers also will take up the treaty with Germany.

Germany Next
A French spokesman said the ministers would devote two weeks to completing work on the satellite treaties, then would start consideration of the German pact.

He added that the fundamental aspects of the German problem would not be tackled in New York, but that the ministers would try to discover whether there was enough grounds for agreement to justify the holding of a later meeting in Europe.

Molotov's attack on the work of the conference was delivered at a plenary session on the eve of the adjournment of the 21-nation parley. The issues he raised suggested a possible showdown between the east and the west at the New York meeting.

Farewell Address Tuesday
Molotov told the delegates they had failed to reach satisfactory accords in their 11 weeks of deliberations.

He took the floor immediately before the conference wound up its work on the treaties by approving the Finnish draft pact.

As approved, the Finnish treaty contained a clause calling for reparations payments of $300,000,000 to Russia. This was opposed by U. S. Sen. Arthur H. Vandenberg (R-Mich.), who said the amount was a "rubber stamp" figure and should be cut to $200,000,000.

Dr. Quo Tai-Chi of China, who presided over the plenary session, said the conference would hold its last session tomorrow afternoon. Biddell is slated to deliver a farewell address.

The U. S. proposal to reduce reparations to Russia was defeated 11 to 5. Joining the United States in negative votes were Canada, South Africa, New Zealand and The Netherlands, Australia, Belgium, Brazil, Greece and Norway abstained.

WARFARE ENDS FOR INDONESIA

Netherlands Signs Truce With Republic After 14-Months Siege

BY STANLEY SWINTON

Batavia, Oct. 14. (AP)—The Netherlands government and the Republic of Indonesia today signed a truce agreement calling for an end to 14 months of bloody warfare in Java and nearby islands.

It was hoped the truce would establish peaceful conditions for continuing political negotiations on Indonesian demands for independence.

A third party to the truce was Britain's special commissioner for Southeast Asia, Lord Killarney, generally credited here with bringing the warring sides together.

No "cease fire" order has been issued, and informed sources said some local Indonesian commands, particularly on the island of Sumatra, might refuse to obey orders from the government.

Sjahrir had taken the precaution to call in his top military leaders and make them party to the truce, but one element considered dubious was the leftwing "people's army," which maintains only tenuous links with the government.

Lt. Gen. S. B. Spoor, commander-in-chief of the Netherlands forces in the Indies, declared Dutch troops would "loyally" obey the truce and he expressed the hope that the Indonesian army would do likewise.

Better Meat Supply Seen By Midwinter

(By The Associated Press)

The meat industry acclaimed immediate removal of price controls from meat and livestock Monday night and spokesmen predicted a gradual return of meat to the nation's dinner tables.

Some said meat prices immediately would be higher than OPA retail ceilings but that they gradually would become lower.

The American Meat Institute, spokesman for major packers, said there wouldn't be "much more meat for consumers in the immediate future" but asserted the industry "now can go to work to provide meat just as quickly as possible."

It said meat stocks are at a record low and "the distribution pipelines are completely empty."

Because the national meat "scarcity is even more acute" than prior to temporary decontrol last July, the institute said, "a longer period will be required now than was necessary then to get meat back into satisfactory quantity to normal distribution."

The institute statement did not comment on price effects of the president's announcement.

Mark Pickell of Naperville, Ill., executive secretary of the Cornbelt Livestock Feeders Association, representing 10 livestock groups from Ohio to Colorado, said:

"The announcement is very sound and sensible. It means that meat starts back to the dinner tables now. It may take a little time but by midwinter there should be a very substantial supply at a price the housewife can afford to pay."

E. A. Cudahy, Chicago, chairman of the board of directors of the Cudahy Packing Co., said, "I think it is a wise decision. So far as livestock and meats are concerned, from the beginning the enforcement division of OPA never operated effectively, which more than anything else wrecked the intent of OPA."

"Meat will return through regular distributive channels of trade. Prices for the immediate future will be higher than OPA ceiling prices, but lower than black market prices."

ATOMIC BOMBS REMAIN IN U. S.

Drew Pearson Broadcast Untrue, Says Aide To President

Washington, Oct. 14. (AP)—The White House assured the atomic-worried world today that this country has sent no atom bombs to England or any other place abroad.

The statement was an apparent step to squelch fears that the United States is picking partners for possible future use of the dread weapon.

Eben Ayers, assistant White House press secretary, told reporters:

"The only atomic bombs that got out of the United States were those used in the Bikini test and those dropped on Japan."

Ayers said he was speaking "on the authority of the president."

Only last Thursday, at a news conference, Mr. Truman stated categorically that Great Britain did not have any atomic bombs.

He made this statement in denial of what a newsman said was a report that the British were stockpiling them or had some in their possession.

Today, Ayers told his news conference that he had been asked about a broadcast last night (by Drew Pearson), which, he said, reported atomic bombs had been sent out of this country.

"That is untrue," Ayers said bluntly. Then, he added that no bombs had left this country, "with or without detonators."

Hull Out Of Danger, Physicians Report

Washington, Oct. 14. (AP)—Correll Hull, who suffered a stroke September 30, was pronounced "out of danger" today.

The Bethesda Naval hospital said the former secretary of state is doing so well it is discontinuing its regular twice-a-day bulletins on his condition.

VAPORIZER BURNS BABY

Kalamazoo, (AP)—Douglas Zolomanie, 11-months-old, was recovering today from third degree burns suffered when a vaporizer being used to treat his cold set fire to his crib. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ted Zolomanie, said the flame from the vaporizer ignited a newspaper near the crib, setting it aflame.

CATTLE PRICE CURBS TO BE JUNKED TODAY

TRUMAN ANNOUNCES MOVE TO APPEASE HUNGRY U.S.A.

BY WILLIAM R. SPEAR

Washington, Oct. 14. (AP)—Angrily assailing "selfish" politicians, President Truman tonight abandoned price controls on meat and announced that the whole decontrol program will be speeded up.

Thus, three weeks before the congressional elections, the President altered the course he previously had set, removed the administration's hand from the meat situation completely and for good, and put it up to the industry to restock the housewife's icebox. He said it was the "only remedy" for the shortage.

Selfish Solons Blamed
The action had been urged by many within his own party. And as he castigated congressmen and candidates whom he blamed for the meat shortage and failure of controls, he made no attempt to pin responsibility solely to Republicans.

"The responsibility rests squarely on a few men in the congress who, in the service of selfish interests, have been determined for some time to wreck price controls no matter what the cost might be to our people," he declared.

And again: "The real blame x x x lies at the door of the reckless group of selfish men who, in the hope of gaining political advantage, have encouraged sellers to gamble on the destruction of price control."

The ceilings on livestock and the food and feed derived from it go off tomorrow. That will mean, Mr. Truman announced, that the decontrol of all other items "will have to be accelerated under existing legal standards."

Act Expires June 30
Included in the hastened decontrol process will be the wage controls, the President made clear—"we all recognize the close relationship between wages and prices." But he refused to abolish the wage controls simultaneously with meat ceilings, as those labor leaders favoring meat decontrol have insisted.

"Moreover, he said that "this does not mean the end of controls now."

"Some items, like rent, will have to be controlled for a long time to come," he continued. "Other items, consisting of certain basic materials and other commodities of which there is now a grave shortage, will have to remain under control until production of them has been greatly increased."

The price control act expires June 30. But Mr. Truman's statement on rent appeared to foreshadow a fight to extend that control, at least, beyond the deadline.

CAR SKIDS, TWO GO TO HOSPITAL

State Police Investigate Accidents At Rock And Lathrop

Four persons were injured, two seriously, when an automobile driven by Leonard Lovelless of McFarland went into a skid and rolled over on the highway near McFarland Monday. Mrs. Lovelless, wife of the driver, was thrown out of the car looped over, and received internal injuries and a severe cut in the leg. Mr. Lovelless was cut about the head. Both were taken to St. Francis hospital. Mr. and Mrs. Charles Peterson of McFarland, who were in the auto, were treated for minor injuries at Gladstone, and two children in the car were uninjured. State police were called to investigate.

Another accident reported Monday at Rock occurred when Charles Peterson, 81, of Route 1, Rock, made a U-turn on the highway with his car and struck one driven by Wilfred LaCosse, also of Route 1, Rock, who was passing. The impact deflected LaCosse's automobile so that it struck a truck owned by Donald Kivela of Rock which was parked on the highway. State police issued summons for both Peterson and Kivela.

Report Treasurer Away; Supervisors Will Investigate

The attention of the Delta county board of supervisors yesterday was directed by Chairman O. J. Thorsen of Wells to complaints that County Treasurer Robert Pryal had been absent for long periods from his office in the court house. The board approved a motion to have the board's labor relations committee investigate the matter and report back at the next meeting.

"I have received a number of complaints from the public on the county treasurer being absent from his office," Chairman Thorsen said. "It is my duty as chairman to report this to you, although I am reluctant to do so."

Hangings Of 11 Nazis Set For Wednesday; Place Not Revealed

BY THOMAS A. REEDY
Nuernberg, Germany, Oct. 14. (AP)—Prison officials responsible for the 11 condemned German war leaders said today the hangings would take place Wednesday morning, but beyond that refused to confirm or deny that the executions would be in Nuernberg jail.

The condemned men, prison officials said, did not yet know the time of their death. They have been officially informed that they have been given clemency have been denied by the Allied control council.

The eight correspondents selected to represent the press of the four occupying powers in pooled news coverage of the event were told to be ready to disappear into seclusion some time Tuesday, perhaps in the evening.

They were given no hint as to where they would be taken. Once enroute they will not be allowed to contact the outer world until all the eleven condemned are dead.

The only photographer at the execution will be a United States army man, who will probably take only stills.

Gasoline Station Worker Surrenders In Gunshot Death

Detroit, Oct. 14 (AP)—A plea of guilty to first degree murder in the gasoline station slaying of a fellow worker was received today from 9-year-old William De Vaul, who was "fired of running away."

De Vaul, a fugitive since the gunshot death Sept. 14 of Ted R. Moody, 29, was arrested at his home here Sunday while talking with his wife. Police said he told them he returned to give himself up.

Waiving examination, De Vaul was ordered held without bond by Recorder's Judge John P. Scallen. De Vaul, officers said, told of frequent arguments with Moody and declared that he shot his fellow worker when the latter "began talking about my wife to our friends."

Police Inspector George Branton said De Vaul tried to make the shooting appear to have been a holdup. Moody's body had been dragged into a grease pit and $25 was removed from his person.

Proposal To Divert Sales Tax Opposed By Hygiene Society

Lansing, Oct. 14 (AP)—The Michigan Society for Mental Hygiene, through its board of directors, today condemned the sales tax diversion amendment on the November ballot.

The board, meeting with Governor Kelly and the State Mental Health Commission, asserted passage of the amendment would "jeopardize" the state's entire mental hospital building program, preventing any future construction unless new taxes were imposed and by requiring further deterioration in the state's minimum care program for mental patients.

The comb has been used by all peoples and in every age for dressing the hair.

Coordination Of Vets' Services Sought Here

The Delta county board of supervisors yesterday appropriated $4,500 for assistance of organizations serving war veterans, but at the same time stipulated that none of the funds could be disbursed until a coordination of the offices serving veterans was completed.

The county board approved the resolution calling for such a coordination of veterans' services, which was prepared and submitted by the board's finance committee. The committee had received a request from the Office of Veterans Affairs for an appropriation of $9,000 for 1947.

In the resolution it was pointed out that the Veterans Administration, a federal agency, is now setting up a sub-regional office on the third floor of the First National Bank building, Escanaba; and that the State Office of Veterans Affairs has a regional office on the second floor of the same building.

It was also pointed out in the finance committee's resolution that the Michigan legislature has created a Michigan Veterans Trust Fund, and that there are three local members of the committee. The county is responsible for providing suitable office space for.

"Therefore, be it resolved, that all statutory agencies dealing with veterans affairs to which an appropriation of public funds are required and made by the county board of supervisors, be located in the same building with the Veterans Administration and the Regional State Office of Veterans Affairs," and that the finance committee take the necessary steps to bring about such coordination.

Further it was stipulated in the resolution the county assist in financing the Delta county Office of Veterans Affairs if the following conditions were met:

- 1.—The counseling center function under a set of by-laws adopted by its governing body or executive committee, which set forth purpose and policy of the organization, which among other matters shall govern:
- 2.—The office be a full time veterans counseling center where by all members of the staff shall confine their gainful occupation to the full time duties of counseling veterans.
- 3.—No person associated with said counseling center as a member of the staff or as an officer of the organization shall be actively engaged in any party politics; this has reference to all persons who may be or may become an active political officer of any political party in this county.
- 4.—Further provide that a monthly financial statement of all income and expenditures be submitted to all members of the county council and copies of same to the chairman of the committee on finance and taxation of the board of supervisors, and to the clerks of the cities of Escanaba and Gladstone.

The resolution adopted by the county board follows a two-year history of disagreement between the supervisors and officials of the Office of Veterans Affairs in Delta county. The supervisors have previously indicated their willingness to make larger appropriations if their conditions were met. Gerald Cleary, secretary of the Delta county Office of Veterans Affairs, is chairman of the Delta county Democratic committee, and campaign manager for the Democratic state central committee.

Munising News

Welcoming Program Given For Priest

Munising—Father G. Harrington, successor to the late Rev. Father O. J. LaMothe, pastor of Sacred Heart church, was honored recently at a program given by the children of the Sacred Heart parochial school.

The pupils of the eighth grade presented "The Vision of St. Dominic". Denis Mellon portrayed the role of St. Dominic and Patricia Beauchamp that of the Blessed Virgin. Four girls from the third grade acted as angels. They were: Maxine Ely, Lorrell Burke, Constance Wrona and Mary Lou Benzing. Seventh and eighth grade children recited the needed parts and sang the "Hail Mary" and the "Our Father."

Girls of the sixth grade contributed to the program by singing a daisy song. Their costumes were created in yellow and green colors, resembling the flower. Members of the fourth and fifth grades sang an appropriate song welcoming Father Harrington to the parish with the entire student body joining in. Third grade children shared in the program by reciting a humorous number entitled "Mumps", and the second grade pupils recited "When Daddy Was a Boy". Two recitations: "Shave Store" and "Donuts" were presented by the first grade.

Francis Madigan gave the welcoming address concluding the program.

Maxine E. Wittlock Richard Ritrovato Wed Here Recently

Munising—At a solemn nuptial high mass at 8 o'clock Saturday morning, Sept. 21, Miss Maxine E. Wittlock, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Axel Wittlock, 501 West Onota street, became the bride of Richard Ritrovato, son of Mr. and Mrs. Vincent Ritrovato, 206 Prospect avenue, Bridgeport, Pa. The Rev. Casimir Mark, of the Sacred Heart church, performed the ceremony.

The church was decorated with baskets of gladioli and music during the service was furnished by the Young Girls' choir.

Miss Della Ritrovato, sister of the groom, and Benjamin Chartier attended the couple.

For her wedding the bride chose a white floor-length gown with satin top and lace skirt and train. She carried a colonial bouquet. Her bridesmaid wore a pink floor-length gown with pink headress and also carried a colonial bouquet. The bride's mother wore a blue dress with black accessories and a corsage of gladioli.

A wedding breakfast was served at the bride's home and the wedding dinner, with covers for 18, was served in the Sylvan Inn. In the evening, a reception, which was attended by 100 guests, was held at the bride's home.

Mr. and Mrs. Ritrovato left Monday, September 23, on a wedding trip to Detroit, Buffalo, Niagara Falls and New York. For her going away outfit the bride wore a gray wool dress with black accessories.

The couple will make their home in Bridgeport, Pa.

The bride is a graduate of the Mather high school and a graduate nurse of St. Joseph hospital, Mt. Clemens. The groom is a graduate of the Bridgeport high school. He served three years in the army and was stationed in the European theatre of operations.

Out-of-town guests at the wedding here were Mrs. Henry Carlissen and Mrs. Hester Irving and children, Elmhurst, Ill.; Miss Della Ritrovato and Miss Ann Ritrovato, Bridgeport, Pa.; Mrs. Charles Knaack, Coronado, Calif.; and Mr. and Mrs. Arvid Tamminen, Marquette; Mr. and Mrs. Vern Peterson and Mrs. May Bourgeois, of Isabella.

POWER STRIKE IS UNBROKEN IN PITTSBURGH

delphia Inquirer unit of the CIO American Newspaper Guild re-affirmed a strike vote and rejected a management wage offer, but instructed a negotiating committee to try again for peaceful settlement. The unit seeks a $100 minimum for experienced reporters, $115 for deskmen and $50 for clerical workers.

In Los Angeles, negotiations broken down last month between the Herald-Express and the American Newspaper Guild on wages, may be resumed. The paper was struck by 525 members of the CIO union on Sept. 4 and has not published since. The Guild is demanding $100 for experienced reporters, while the paper has offered a 12 1/2 per cent, or $5 increase, whichever is greater. The pre-strike minimum for reporters and photographers was $70.

State Budget Chief Since 1942 Resigns

Lansing, Oct. 14 (AP)—Fred C. Striffler, of Caro, state budget director since 1942, today resigned his position, effective Tuesday.

Governor Kelly, accepting Striffler's resignation "with regret," named C. J. McNeill, veteran deputy budget director, to be acting budget director until the Kelly administration ends December 31. Striffler was reported to be in poor health and to desire to devote more time to his private business. Kelly recalled that Striffler first submitted his resignation last spring, but had agreed to remain until the preliminary drafts of the 1947-48 budget were prepared.

try were jubilant over receiving immediately the decontrol for which they petitioned last week with prospects that they were in for a long struggle ending up before the decontrol board for a ruling.

Industry representatives predicted a gradual return of meat to the butcher shops now, but some said it will take a little time.

In connection with meat decontrol, the President recalled that "for many months representatives of the livestock and meat industry have insistently demanded the lifting of controls."

He said they "have made the definite promise" that removal of controls will bring meat to market "at reasonable prices."

"The American people," he added, "will know where the responsibility rests if profiteering on meat raises prices so high that the average American cannot buy it."

The President said Secretary of Agriculture Anderson and Price Administrator Porter will remove tomorrow "all price controls on livestock and food and feed products (derived) therefrom."

This automatically will remove the subsidies now being paid to the industry.

Slaughtering quotas now imposed on the packers are covered by separate OPA orders. These quotas were removed temporarily at the time price controls lapsed in mid-summer and presumably they will be abolished now.

May Lift Embargo

Mr. Truman also announced tonight that an agriculture department investigation indicates that the Mexican border may be reopened at once to meat imports from that country. An embargo was placed upon Mexican cattle imports recently after Mexico had imported some bulls from South America which officials thought might be infected with the hoof and mouth disease.

The President's remarks indicated that this embargo soon will be removed.

"When that happens," he said, "a substantial number of cattle from Mexico will come into this country. Most of them will be thin but they can be sent into the feed lots to replace the domestic cattle which have been sufficiently fattened to be shipped to the slaughter houses."

Nothing was said about lifting the ban on fresh meat imports from Argentina.

Earlier in the evening, Secretary-General D. A. Fitzgerald of the International Emergency Food Council told reporters that any attempt by the United States to import beef from Argentina might upset present international food allocations. The council is an emergency food allocation body.

BREAST CANCER CURE INDICATED

Simple Method Revealed By Minnesota Medical School Specialist

Boston, Oct. 14 (AP)—A hope that medical science may find a cure for cancer of the breast through experiments on new-born mice was voiced today by Dr. John J. Bittner, cancer research specialist of the University of Minnesota Medical School.

Speaking at Massachusetts General Hospital's Ether Centenary Celebration, Dr. Bittner revealed a "simple, effective method" of preventing mammary cancer in mice—immediate foster nursing of litters born to females of cancerous strains.

Termining the milk agent a possible virus, the researcher added: "whether or not breast cancer in humans may be controlled by the same simple method must be determined from data to be obtained in surveys now under way."

Although inherited susceptibility and hormonal stimuli are as much responsible for spontaneous mammary cancer in mice as the mammary tumor milk agent, Dr. Bittner said, regulation of the latter has been discovered to be the most effective method of controlling the disease.

Stating that females do not have to be cancerous to transfer the mammary tumor milk agent, Dr. Bittner stressed the importance of immediate fostering.

"No significant reduction in the incidence may be obtained if the young are permitted to nurse their mothers for 24 hours," he said.

Descendants of both cancerous and non-cancerous fostered mice have been continued for 30 inbred generations and mammary tumors have not been observed during the past three years, the doctor reported.

Supervisors Plan Valuation Study

A plan whereby a Delta county board committee would make a preparatory study of disputed valuations in the townships to arrive at basic information to aid in equalization work next spring was tentatively approved by the county board last night.

The plan was proposed by Supervisor Sam Wickman of Escanaba, who said that he believed that equalization could be facilitated if there was agreement on valuations now in dispute. Several township supervisors protested the Clemenshaw company appraisal figures, while at least one township supervisor and city supervisors were dissatisfied with the valuations placed by the state tax commission.

On motion of Wickman, supported by Supervisor Wynand Nieuwenkamp of Gladstone, the board approved by a 9 to 6 vote a motion to appropriate not more than $2,000 for such a study. The cost would be largely in hiring clerks to copy the valuation records. The committee would first determine feasibility of the plan before making any expenditures.

There were only 15 supervisors present when the motion was made at 6:30 p. m. The others, largely from the townships, had left the meeting earlier.

Supervisor Earl Paquin of Escanaba township, who opposed the plan, charged that the proposal had been delayed until rural supervisors were absent. Voting against the proposal were Supervisors Paquin, Mattson, Berg, Gustafson, Holmes and Leo Mercer. Eight supervisors from Escanaba and Gladstone, and Supervisor Thorsen of Wells voted for the valuation study plan.

Briefly Told

Apply For License—Application for a marriage license has been made at the office of the county clerk by Arnold E. Senpaka and Betty Jane Fickes of Stonington.

Change Allocation—The county allocation commission in meeting Monday morning corrected the allocation to Baldwin township schools to 8.1 from the previous allocation of 8.6 mills, which was above the budgetary need of the district.

K. of C. Meeting—The Knights of Columbus will hold a regular business meeting at 8 o'clock Tuesday evening in K. of C. club rooms. Members are requested to bring their applications for the district initiation to be held in Iron Mountain Oct. 20. Lunch and refreshments will be served.

Name Omitted—Through error, the name of Joanne Kleiman was omitted from the Shaffer school honor roll announced last week.

Reckless Driver Fined—Fred Popour of Nahma yesterday pleaded guilty in Justice Henry Ranguette's court to a charge of reckless driving on Washington and Stephenson avenues and paid a fine of $25 and costs. He was arrested by Escanaba police Saturday night when he drove on the sidewalk to avoid hitting a train.

Speeders Penalized—Lowell Belanger of Gladstone pleaded guilty to speeding on Washington avenue Saturday night when arraigned in Justice Henry Ranguette's court and paid a fine of $5 and costs. Two Escanaba youths of high school age had their driving licenses revoked for speeding in the city Saturday evening.

Births

Mr. and Mrs. Louis Butryn of Bark River are the parents of a daughter born yesterday morning at St. Francis hospital. The child has been named Julie Ann, and weighed eight pounds 12 ounces at birth.

Chicago has the lowest juvenile delinquency rate in the United States, according to FBI records.

Library Services Told To Rotarians

Miss Betty Mather, reference librarian, and Miss Jean Trantantella, children's department librarian, at Carnegie Public library in Escanaba yesterday described their work in talks to the Escanaba Rotary club at its meeting in the Delta hotel. They were introduced by George Lindenthal, program chairman.

Quick reference on a variety of questions is of assistance to hundreds of persons in the community, including business men seeking information on many subjects, Miss Mather explained. These requests for information range from populations of cities and the distance to them from Escanaba, to a reading course in the study of the theory of music.

Miss Trantantella explained the work being done in the children's department—the story hour, branch libraries at the Webster school during the school term, and at the North Escanaba fire station in the summer season.

Children enjoy the story hour particularly, and last Saturday 64 between the ages of eight and four were present, she reported.

With The Delta County Board

Business before the county board of supervisors yesterday included:

Approval of a resolution asking larger state appropriations for public health work.

Adoption of a resolution asking the state to increase aid for county roads by $10,000,000.

Granting of an easement to the state highway department through Fuller Park for the relocation of M-35 right-of-way.

Approved a motion authorizing the building and grounds committee to lease the county infirmary to persons who will use and operate it as a "private boarding, nursing and convalescent home."

Adopted a resolution urging the passage of Proposal No. 1 of the amendments to the state constitution which would permit the state to spend money for airport development.

LAMPREY FIGHT TO BE MAPPED

Conservation Officials To Hold Meeting In Madison

Madison, Wis.—Officers of Great Lakes state conservation departments will meet here this month to plan their war against an ugly new enemy of Wisconsin natural resources.

Object of the campaign to be fought in the sea lamprey, which has become increasingly abundant in Lake Michigan and Green Bay and in the opinion of experts is threatening to affect adversely the commercial fisheries industry of Lake Superior. The lamprey, which has made its way hundreds of miles inland from the Atlantic ocean, is a parasitical form of eel which preys upon the lake trout and whitefish, the state's most valuable remaining commercial fish species.

Under the sponsorship of the federal fish and wildlife service which is providing the funds, the Wisconsin and other Great Lakes state conservation departments have two principal objectives:

A survey to determine the extent of damage to fisheries thus far.

A detailed study of Green bay and Lake Michigan tributary streams to study the spawning migrations of the parasite.

Control schemes based upon these studies will probably get underway next spring. Various measures to induce fishermen and others to hunt the spawning lampreys in the tributary streams and to kill them have been discussed, including a bounty proposal. Detailed arrangements will be made known later, according to E. W. Schneberger, head of the state fisheries section.

Federal funds to finance an anti-lamprey drive were appropriated by the U. S. congress at its recent session.

Greene Appointed Road Commissioner

Harry Greene, Garden township supervisor, yesterday was appointed by the county board to the county road commission effective Jan. 1, and immediately resigned as a supervisor following his acceptance of the appointive position.

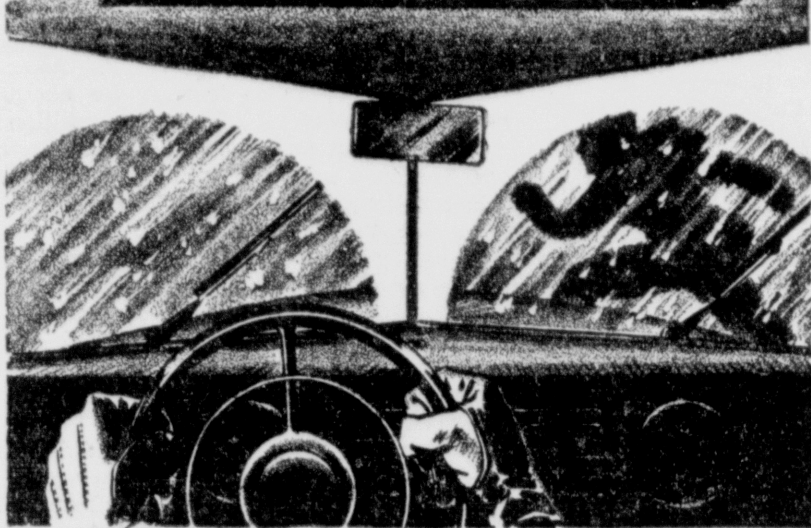

Greene has served as a supervisor of Garden township for a total of 18 years, not consecutively. On the road commission he will succeed August Larson of Rock, who term expires Dec. 31. The appointment is for a four-year term.

The Garden township board has appointed Alfred LaValle as supervisor to fill the vacancy created by Greene's resignation. The office will be filled by the voters at the spring election.

Supervisor LaValle will serve on all board committees where Greene was a member, except the health committee, where Greene was chairman. This chairmanship will be filled by Supervisor Albert Buchman of Gladstone.

James T. Jones of Gladstone was appointed a member of the county's Pincerest sanatorium committee to fill the unexpired term of the late C. A. Clark of Gladstone. Conan Fisher of Gladstone will fill the vacancy on the county board of canvassers created at Clark's death. Fisher is a member of the Gladstone school faculty.

County Budget For 1947 Established At $179,291

With estimated funds available totaling $167,601 for the coming year, the Delta county board of supervisors yesterday established a budget of $179,91 or more than $11,000 over income. This estimated deficit, however, will be only about $3,000 because the expenditures include an $8,000 appropriation toward the retirement of the accumulated deficit.

Higher costs and lower income combined to bring about the deficit financing for the county.

Last year the county had an allocation of 7 mills on a slightly lower valuation which brought in a total of $168,243 in taxes. This year the allocation was lowered to 6.4 mills on a slightly higher valuation and the tax revenue will total an estimated $165,378.

The total of all expenditures last year was $171,063, compared with an estimated total of $179,291 for 1947.

The budget totals for the various county departments with a comparison of 1946 and 1947 appropriations are as follows:

	1947	1946

AMENDMENT 1 IS EXPLAINED

Future Of Aviation In Michigan Depends Upon Approval

Tracy Southworth, of the Michigan Department of Aeronautics, told the Escanaba Lions club last night that unless Amendment No. 1 on the fall election ballot is approved by the voters of Michigan, no federal or state funds will be available to develop airports in the state.

Southworth emphasized that the amendment simply is enabling legislation to authorize the state and local governments to appropriate funds for airport construction and is not in itself an appropriation measure.

The development of the entire aviation industry in Michigan is dependent upon approval of the Proposal No. 1, Southworth said, and added that approval of the amendment also is required for the expenditure of public funds for seaport development.

The speaker reported that considerable funds have already been appropriated by the national government and the state legislature of Michigan for airport improvements throughout Michigan, but that none of these monies may be legally used for that purpose under present constitutional restrictions.

LOW-GRADE ORE MAY BE USED

Experiments Show That Good Steel Can Be Made

Washington, (SS.)—When America's high-grade iron ore is exhausted, which some predict may be within a few decades, domestic low-grade ores may be used to make excellent steels as a result of studies and experiments by the U. S. Bureau of Mines. The reserves of these low-grade iron ores are plentiful.

After 15 years' work on the problem, the Bureau now announces that it has found ways of producing pure metals from off-grade ores, and combining these metals to obtain steels and other ferrous alloys frequently superior to those made by standard methods from high-grade imported ores.

During these years, the Bureau has conducted studies in iron ore concentration, reducibility of ores and agglomerates, direct reduction of iron ores and concentrates by a wide variety of processes, special refining processes for iron, and

QUEEN CONTEST ASSIGNED HERE

Colorful Winter Sports Coronation Planned February 15

The Queen of the North contest, annually a highlight of the Upper Peninsula winter sports season, will be held in Escanaba Saturday, Feb. 15 during the Escanaba ice revue, it was decided Sunday by the U. P. Winter Sports council, meeting at Marquette.

The Escanaba ice revue will be held Feb. 13-14-15-16, dates of which were confirmed by the winter sports council, and the Bay de Noc speed skating open championships will be held at Escanaba Feb. 8-9.

The Queen of the North contest was held last year at Houghton. Queen candidates from all sections of the peninsula vie for the title.

Work is being started here on construction of a new six lap ice rink at the Ludington park, as well as a curling and hockey rink, the city recreation department announced yesterday.

the production of pure manganese, chromium and cobalt from low-grade ores by electrolytic processes. A special report gives many of the details. It may be obtained free from the Bureau. It is entitled "The Metallurgical Research Program of the Bureau of Mines Relating to Iron and Steel."

DOCTORS WARN CONSTIPATED FOLKS ABOUT LAZY BILE

IT IS SAID constipation causes many human discomforts—headaches, lack of energy and mental dullness being but a few, BUT DON'T WORRY—

For years a noted Ohio Doctor, Dr. F. M. Edwards, successfully treated scores of patients for constipation with his famous Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets—now sold by druggists everywhere.

Olive Tablets, being purely vegetable, are wonderful! They not only gently yet thoroughly cleanse the bowels but also pep up lazy bile secretion to help digest fatty foods. Test their goodness TONIGHT without fail! 15c, 30c. Follow label directions. All drugstores.

Bonifas Company Will Build Camp

Sault Ste. Marie—Forty-man lumbering camp is being erected on the Gogomain swamp near Pickford by the Bonifas Lumber Company under the direction of Raymond Garrett, representative of the company in the eastern Northern Peninsula with headquarters in Pickford.

The camp is located near Raber and the operations will be in pulpwood and cedar posts.

Operations of the Bonifas Company in this area have expanded to the point that Robert McCraney, formerly of the U. of M. Forest Camp at Golden Lake, has been assigned to the eastern territory.

The company also buys and processes roadside wood from jobbers and farmers.

Mr. Garrett, a graduate of Penn State, came to Pickford to take charge of Bonifas operations in June, 1945, when Mr. Samuelson was transferred to Marquette.

The mistletoe, a parasite, was the first official state flower. Oklahoma adopted it while still a territory.

An athlete could hurl a 14-pound shot 10 miles if he had as much energy as an average car going a mile a minute.

The banana plant, resembling a tree, actually is an herb with tightly rolled leaves serving as stems.

Deserves Reelection

WHILE the Michigan gubernatorial campaign has been waxing hot, the fact that there is a contest for the U. S. senatorship this fall has escaped the notice of many voters.

The quietness of the senatorial campaign is due largely to the absence of Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg, who has been serving his country as a delegate to the Paris peace conference and consequently has been unable to carry on a personal canvass for votes throughout the state. Senator Vandenberg will return from Paris late this week but then will go to the United Nations Assembly in New York instead of returning to Michigan. His participation in state politics likely will be limited to only a few speeches in the closing days of the campaign in November.

The Democrats are taking advantage of Senator Vandenberg's absence by inviting Henry A. Wallace to take the stump on behalf of their senatorial candidate, James H. Lee. It is doubtful, however, whether anything Wallace will have to say will take votes from Senator Vandenberg, for even many Democrats are opposed to the stand taken by the former secretary of commerce on the Russian question. A recent Gallup poll shows 78 per cent of the American people backing Secretary of State Byrnes' policy as compared to only 16 per cent agreeing with Wallace's views.

Vandenberg made a great personal sacrifice in accepting Secretary Byrnes' invitation to attend the Paris peace conference while his reelection was at stake back home. The Michigan senator, however, has proved invaluable in helping America present a united non-partisan front in its foreign relations.

Wallace's speech in New York did much to tear down our prestige abroad. If he criticizes Senator Vandenberg on his Michigan speech-making tour, he will be also sniping at the Democratic administration's foreign policy, as expounded by Secretary Byrnes of the state department.

Senator Vandenberg has demonstrated himself to be an outstanding American statesman. His service to his country during its crucial wartime and postwar years certainly has earned for him the right of reelection.

Gen. Stilwell

THE death of Gen. Joseph Stilwell in San Francisco Saturday ends the career of one of the most colorful generals in American military history.

Reverently known to his troops as "Vinegar Joe" and "Uncle Joe," Gen. Stilwell was a soldier's soldier, a leader who believed in fighting at the side of his troops in their campaigns.

With insufficient troops and scanty supplies, Gen. Stilwell was driven out of Burma by the Japs early in the Pacific war, but later he led his American and Chinese soldiers to victory in Burma and in China, later completing his military achievements by leading the conquest of Okinawa.

Gen. Stilwell was strictly a soldier and not a diplomat. When he found his military objectives being hindered by the diversion of American supplies to Chiang Kai-Shek for campaigning against the Chinese Communists instead of the Japanese enemy, Gen. Stilwell protested, bluntly and plainly. This set off the clash with Kai-Shek that finally resulted in Stilwell's recall to the United States. Like the true soldier that he was, Gen. Stilwell never whimpered and later succeeded Gen. Buckner as commander of the Tenth Army in Okinawa after Buckner had been killed in action.

The thousands of American troops who served under Gen. Stilwell will always remember him as a square shooter, a real soldier and a grand Joe.

Trouble in China

REJECTION by the Chinese Communists of the latest truce plan proposed by General Marshall in the Chinese civil war, coupled with the reinstatement by Chiang Kai-Shek of national conscription, apparently means the full-scale resumption of fighting.

This poses another major problem for the United States government—whether to stay in China with troops and supplies to help the Nationalists stop the economic reforms that are so badly needed in China, or whether to get out and let the Chinese settle their own affairs.

The problem is not quite as simple as it looks. If we get out of China, direct Russian intervention is almost certain to follow. Thus far the Chinese Communists obviously are anticipating help from Moscow sooner or later. This is further indicated by rising demands from Russia that American troops get out of China.

If Americans withdraw and Russia steps in to help the Chinese Communists, China would be delivered within the Russian orbit in a matter of weeks. It is hardly a pleasant prospect from the American viewpoint.

Rats and Disease

THIS year's wave of polio and other diseases has again focussed attention on the rat problem in many communities. Science still doesn't know how some diseases are transmitted, but they know that the rodents carry some of the worst threats to health and life. Typhus and bubonic plague, for instance, have been traced to these sneaky creatures.

The rat is credited with having killed more human beings than all the wars in history. More than 25 million are believed to have died from the rat-carried bubonic plague in the 300 years between the 11th and 14th centuries. The typhus death toll is almost as high.

Rat extermination campaigns have been launched in more than a hundred major cities in Southeastern states because of the fear of plague in that region. Besides carrying disease, rats cause a tremendous amount of property damage. A half million pounds of sugar were destroyed in three months in New Orleans alone.

The Fish and Wildlife Service has developed effective poison baits, which are made available to communities wishing to launch eradication campaigns. No community clean-up campaign is really complete unless an attack is also made on the vermin, which are a threat to both human beings and property.

COLLECTORS AT EVERY STATION (Marquette Mining Journal)

Few commodities have changed as little in price within the past 20 years as gasoline. There have been variations up and down, but they have been slight. But this cannot be said of the division of the price between the producer and the marketer on the one hand and the tax collector on the other. Today's driver pays only a few pennies more for 10 gallons of gasoline than he would have paid in 1930, a few pennies less than he would have paid in 1928. But the tax collector collected only a little over three cents a gallon in 1928 and only three and three-quarters cents a gallon in 1930. Today the several taxing authorities among them collect more than six cents a gallon. But the price of gasoline, exclusive of taxes, has been held down so that the total cost to the consumer is even less than it was 18 years ago.

Today's average tax on a gallon of gasoline represents an ad valorem tax of about 42 per cent, but there is no certainty that the maximum rate has been reached. Today's tax is slightly larger than it was in 1945, and the 1945 average was slightly larger than in 1944. Sometimes in the past the average tax for each gallon of gasoline has stayed at one level for two or three years, but so far there has never been a decline. Too many taxing authorities are eager to have a share in this impost. The "emergency" which took the Federal Government into this field of taxation is more than 14 years old. It shows no signs of coming to an end.

SAULT STATE POLICE POST (Sault Ste. Marie News)

The Evening News is in hearty accord with Commissioner Oscar G. Olander's proposal to establish a State Police post at Sault Ste. Marie.

For years we have advocated such a post. We have pointed out that the State Police of Michigan is among the top police groups of the nation; that they work hand in hand with local authorities; that the rising crime wave is definitely of a state as well as local concern; that the nearest posts now are at St. Ignace, 50 miles away and Newberry, 65 miles away; that we are a border point and the gateway to northern Ontario; and that we are desirous of the added protection of State Police as much as Wakefield, Iron Mountain, Marquette, Gladstone, Manistique and other communities of the Northern Peninsula.

Commissioner Olander's proposal, of course, may not be adopted at once, but the fact that the proposal has been made constitutes a start. The campaign for a State Police post here must be continued diligently because the need for it here is real.

PROGRAM

Today I celebrate the tenth anniversary of my National Crusade to Teach People That It's Wrong to Pronounce Program as "PRO-gr'm."

The Crusade was slow in getting under way. I must confess that there were times when I was almost at the point of utter despair—people simply would not quit saying "PRO-gr'm!"

Then, miraculously, the tide began to turn. At first slowly, then in steadily increasing numbers, people began saying PRO-gram, to rhyme with "no ham."

We redoubled our appropriation and efforts: My assistant, Dr. Etaoin Shrdlu, delivered profound lectures before countless schools and universities; my secretary, Miss Corona Remingtonwood, wore out three mimeographs in sending form letters to speech teachers; my radio consultant, Fasmile Q. Boxtop, shouted "Don't say PRO-gr'm!" over all the nation's networks; my language expert, Maestro Tuttil-Frutti, turned pamphleteer and literally showered our foreign-born with "PRO-gram" propaganda—

Today? Well, of America's 140 million inhabitants, we can point proudly to 17 persons who now say PRO-gram, to rhyme with "no ham."

Though flushed with victory, we do not intend to relax our vigilance an iota, not jot or tittle, until we have persuaded the remaining 139,999,983 Americans to go to their dictionaries and see for themselves that the -gram of program is pronounced gram, exactly as in diagram, epigram, monogram.

And who knows? We may even see the World Events Analyzed

BY MARQUIS CHILDS

Columbus, Ohio—A month ago, or even two weeks ago, the story in Ohio was quite a different one. Then it seemed fairly certain that popular Democratic Governor Frank Lausche would be reelected; and his popularity was counted on to help weaker candidates on the Democratic ticket. Now, if the polls can be believed, such a marked Republican trend has set in that Lausche himself seems likely to go under. Even some leading Democrats, when they talk privately, admit their gloom.

Childs

The trouble about the polls is that they show such a great change in the past month that they can scarcely be believed. They show that Lausche has lost strength rapidly in the industrial areas which he must count on for heavy majorities in order to win. In certain sections of Cleveland, where his majority two years ago was 68 per cent, he leads today by only 53 per cent.

Polls have been wrong before and they can be wrong again. But something is happening here which may mean a Republican sweep, with the Democrats losing one senate seat and at least three seats in the house.

—MOVED TOWARD RIGHT—

Lausche, who has never placed much reliance on the Democratic organization, has for the past two years found himself in a political box, surrounded on all sides by a Republican legislature. On a statewide scale, it's like the position in which President Truman will find himself if the Republicans win control of the House this fall.

Lausche's record as governor does not appear in too favorable a light, even when the difficulties of his position are considered. Elected in 1944 with the blessing of President Roosevelt, and regarded, outside the state at least, as a liberal, he has tried to move toward the right. At the same time, the left-wing faction in the CIO-PAC has embarrassed him with impossible demands.

As a middle-of-the-roader, Lausche has found few supporters on the right and he has lost adherents on the left. His accomplishments, such as somewhat improving the fearful conditions in Ohio's medieval lunatic asylums, tend to be obscured.

The way seems cleared for reaction. The question is how far the pendulum will swing. If you take Ohio's two leading Republicans as a measuring rod, the answer is: A long way.

On domestic issues, former Gov. John Bricker would go back to the pre-New Deal era. In this, he is far to the right of Sen. Robert A. Taft, who stands for a minimum program of social reform.

On foreign policy, Taft seems to be taking a line that leads back to American isolation. His recent attack on the verdict at Nuremberg is a straw in that wind. It was not so much his belief that the verdict was immoral as that he should have waited until the trials were over before speaking out in violent denunciation of the war-guilt principle.

—TAFT CHARGES APPEASEMENT—

Far more extraordinary is the speech Taft made a month ago at the Republican state convention. His tone was one of fussy perfectionism, with the strong implication that we should stand on principle and turn our backs on the sordid quarrels of the rest of the world. He accused both Truman and Roosevelt of "appeasing" Russia. That appeasement, said Taft, has "only helped to build up the greatest totalitarian state the world has ever seen." Election of a "New Deal Congress" in November would lead to further appeasement of Russia, he said.

On the subject of the Bretton Woods agreement, Taft spoke with scorn of ten billion dollars "made available to foreigners." He urged that peacetime conscription be ended "unless there is a real threat of some new war, which God forbid."

"It," said the Senator, "An American industry meeting any substantial part of domestic demands is threatened by lower costs abroad, it should be protected by a tariff and not subsidized by the taxpayer." The bronze statue of William McKinley on the Ohio capital lawn is said to have come to life at this point to give out general bronze applause. But that is probably only a Democratic canard.

"We support the United Nations," Taft said, in summing up. "But propose to use our power to see that its goal of peace and security is reached by our insistence on freedom and justice rather than by force. We propose to maintain our own freedom and no longer interfere with the internal freedom of other nations, allied, neutral or enemy, to run their own business so long as there is no beginning of an attempt to build up aggressive armament to threaten the peace of the world and the power of the United Nations."

There is in this, I suggest, a strange and unhappy family parallel. William Howard Taft, father of the Senator, was among the prominent Republicans who in 1920 urged election of Warren G. Harding so that he might bring about revision of the League of Nations and thus secure peace.

Harding was elected president. He quickly repudiated the league. And America drew back into an isolationism that indulged only in fussy preachments to a wicked world.

day when America's ace radio comedian, genial Bob Hope, will make the discovery that he is the only one on his PRO-gram who ever says "PRO-gr'm."

My pamphlet, SUPERSTITIONS ABOUT ENGLISH, exposes many false beliefs, i. e., that it is wrong to end a sentence with a preposition, that "Aren't I?" is society English, that "Reverend" is the proper title for a minister, etc. For a free copy, send a stamped self-addressed envelope to Frank Colby in care of this paper.

'Aw, C'mon Henry, Have a Heart!'

Good Morning!

By The Bugler

VIEWPOINT — Metropolitan newspaper reporters covering the current political campaign and assigned to travel with the touring candidates are often victims of battle fatigue.

One such casualty, at least to all appearances, was Al Kaufman of the Detroit Times, who with a Detroit News reporter named Levin and a Free Press reporter whose name we did not get at all, were following Democratic gubernatorial aspirant Van Wagoner through the Peninsula. Both the Times and the News men are war veterans, and if their comments at the Democratic dinner were at times impolite the cause was probably their experiences in military life—not their connection with an impolite profession.

Newspaper people are often accused of knowing much more than they really know, which is unjust. Kaufman, for instance, immediately opened the dinner conversation by asking for opinions on which way the Nov. 5 election will go—Republican or Democratic.

"I think it's going Democratic," he added warningly, "but that may be because of the company I've been keeping."

HIS THESIS — Supporting his contention of a Democratic victory in Michigan in November, Kaufman said that he was "certain" that Wayne county would give the Democrats a majority—perhaps not as large as formerly but still a majority. Wayne county, he said, is usually the deciding factor in Michigan elections.

Reminded that Wayne county has not always gone Democratic and that there are many independent voters in the state, and that growing discontent with the Democratic administration in an uneasy position, Kaufman said quickly: "Don't get the idea I'm a Democrat—or a Republican either. I'm one of your independent voters, and I think I'm a fairly intelligent one. But look, here's the way I've got it doped out—"

Kaufman then gave his explanation for his belief that the Democrats will win in Michigan. It went something like this: Wayne county will give the Democrats a majority, outweighing the usual Republican vote in rural sections of the state because the rural vote will be light. Why will the rural vote be light? Because of the state law requiring re-registration, said Kaufman. Many persons will not re-register and thus will lose their opportunity to vote in November. Topping off his thesis, Kaufman asserted that the Upper Peninsula will also give the Democrats a majority—and then repeated his warning that that opinion may be the result of touring the U. P. with Democratic candidates.

The reporter for the Detroit News said nothing, and when Murray D. VanWagoner, Democratic candidate for governor, was introduced and began to exchange a few pleasantries with the dinner audience, Kaufman groaned "Here we go again." He mumbled and grimaced for several seconds, one of the indications of reportorial campaign strain.

FREEDOM OF THE PRESS — It is no secret to either candidates for office or to newspaper editors that reporters accompanying campaigning candidates often are taken into the candidate's confidence on speech-making tips. "Come on, give us something to print," the reporters will cajole the candidates, "that last speech of yours was a stinker." They will ask the candidate to talk on a subject which will "be news", and often the candidate obliges. Such tips mean the difference between Page 1 or a spot among the less-read inner pages.

A TOSS-UP—Later in the conversation Kaufman agreed that Michigan this year is offered two of the "strongest" candidates for governor either party might have nominated. This is from the vote-getting standpoint, of course.

Kim Sigler is a colorful character and an orator, while Van Wagoner has the advantage of being a former governor of Michigan and prior to that a state highway commissioner. Van Wagoner still talks highways with the nostalgia of a man referring to his first love.

THE LET-DOWN —In the interval between the dinner and the Democratic meeting at city hall we talked with a man much closer to the Democratic campaign than Mr. Kaufman of the Times. We had expected him to be bubbling with optimism.

"If Van Wagoner wins it will be because of popularity," he said. "We are disorganized and it's going to be a tough battle. There's no use kidding ourselves. I don't know what would have happened if Cleary (Gerald Cleary of Escanaba) hadn't taken over as state campaign manager."

Perhaps Mr. Kaufman had been talking to the right people at the right time or, as he admitted, it might be a case of campaign fatigue. In any event the answer will be known within 22 days.

Q. My wife was pregnant before our state developed its EMIC program. Since I was in one of the four lowest pay grades at that time, may we now file application for reimbursement of her maternity expenses?

A. The Children's Bureau of the U. S. Department of Labor says that under NO circumstances is it possible for a State health department to pay for services received by a serviceman's wife or child PRIOR to the development of the EMIC program in that state. The fact that the serviceman would have been in an eligible grade for the services subsequently developed does not affect this situation.

Q. May a veteran use a G. I. loan guaranty to acquire an interest in a going concern?

A. Yes. The law provides that the funds must be used in "pursuing a gainful occupation." This means the veteran would have to be active in the business.

Q. Will you give me a recipe for making lettuce sandwiches?

A. Take one medium sized lettuce head, tablespoons of butter, 1 teaspoon lemon juice, 1/4 teaspoon salt, 1/4 teaspoon celery salt, a few drops of onion juice, the crusts from six slices bread. Wash and dry the lettuce; put the lettuce, crusts and butter through the meat grinder, taking the precaution to wrap the butter in the lettuce leaves to prevent it from sticking to the grinder. Season this mixture and spread between slices of bread.

Q. What does S. P. C. A. stand for?

A. Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals.

Q. What was the "middle passage"?

The route carrying slaves from Africa to America in the New England triangular trade in slaves, molasses, and rum.

Q. What financial scandal in France gave Theodore Roosevelt a chance to realize a famous engineering project?

A. The Panama Canal scandal, which caused the French to give up their attempt to build the canal.

Q. What State admitted to the Union in 1863 was called the "bastard offspring of political rape"?

A. West Virginia, which was separated forcibly from Virginia during the Civil War.

Q. My husband recently had signed up for one year's service and had a month's furlough. Will he have to serve one year or must he also count the time of furlough?

A. Military personnel who have reenlisted for one year are required to serve one year plus the time of any reenlistment furlough.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

BY DREW PEARSON

Washington—Many people continue to write me about my 5-year plan for peace and friendship with Russia. Their letters, judged not only by volume but by contents, indicate that the American public is both thinking intensely and worrying about the problems of Russia. That in itself is a healthy sign.

The majority of the letters favor the proposed plan to win over the Russian people—regardless of their government—by an exchange of information, students, musical and theatrical programs, and by permitting one American radio station and newspaper to operate in Moscow with a reciprocal Russian station and newspaper in New York.

Some reaction, however, has been negative and critical. Most of the letters reveal such an interesting cross-section of the mind of the American public, that I am letting those who are thinking about Russia write today's column. Here are carefully selected samples of what the American public thinks about how we can avoid war with Russia.

—"RUSSIA HIDING POVERTY"— Charles K. Coleman, Lyndhurst, N. J.— "I have been in the U. S. merchant service since 1922, during which time I have been to Russia five times. While there I noticed anything mechanical that came to view (I am a marine engineer). The vast majority of these machines were of foreign manufacture. The few machines that were unlabeled were obviously poor imitations of foreign products. Why then do you maintain that a country that is unable to compete with such small nations as Switzerland, Belgium, Sweden, etc., in world markets can possibly produce an atomic bomb, long-range jet-propelled planes, etc., in the short period of five or even ten years? Russia has never produced, with all her tremendous resources, one essential commodity that has found a market outside her own borders.

"My belief is that Russia is hiding nothing more dangerous than extreme poverty—and the Baltic states plus Czechoslovakia and Poland will provide acute indignation to Russia for the next 50 years."

WOULD "GLADLY" ADOPT RUSSIAN Mrs. Mary Ellen Lewis, Sheffield, Ala.— "Let's start with our five-year plan at once. I will gladly take one Russian student into my home and keep him (or her) for nothing if need be while he is in this country. I'll teach him English and probably learn Russian in turn, and will, in every way, treat him as my own child. I'd be only too delighted if my two sons would go to Russia on a similar mission.

"I feel that no sacrifice would be too great to bring about a lasting friendship between our two great nations. My two sons came back unscathed . . . Millions of American boys would not have come back if it were not for 20 million Russian casualties."

Mrs. Catherine C. Anderson, New York City—"Your earnestness in working out a plan for getting along with Russia is commendable. However, it has one great big flaw. How are you going to get Stalin to adopt it?"

Walter P. Masinecup, Washington, D. C.— "Why not have millions of Russians correspond with millions of Americans? This might be done under the supervision of the ministers of the churches in the two countries."

Edward S. Allen, Ames, Iowa—"The Soviet Union is clearly impelled by fear and by resentment at our inferiority of position. Cannot these feelings be allayed in such ways as not to increase Russia's power to do great harm? . . . Could we not offer demilitarization of Alaska on condition that a correspondent section of Siberia were likewise disarmed? . . . The logical answer of peace loving nations would be a proposal to disarm and internationalize all essential straits and canals—Dardanelles, Gibraltar, Suez, Panama."

N. Sidrow, Washington, D. C.— "I spent eight months with Russian sailors in the capacity of instructor in radar and communication with the U. S. Navy. After discharge, in order to learn more about the Russian people, I obtained a position with the Soviet purchasing commission.

"I find they are just plain people. They do not believe in diplomatic language because they do not understand it. I crossed this country twice as guide for a group of their engineers and really learned to know them . . . Russian people respect men who are true to their own country. By that I mean the men who defend the ideals of our government stand higher in their eyes than those who don't."

"I never met a Russian yet who did not have high respect for the U. S. They have highest admiration for our engineering and the way we do business. Unless I am a blind fool, these people are, naturally friendly to us. They like direct conversations, and direct answers.

"For instance, they wanted me to ask some business and professional men, 'what type of education did you have?' They were very surprised when I told them that was not a proper question. They were amazed at the ease with which they get any information they want here, and at the way some of our so-called capitalists received them. If only our government made an effort to get the American people to know the Russians, we would be so much better off."

"Mr. Pearson, our government has too many so-called experts on the Russian nation who don't know anything about Russia. We have either lovers or haters. What we need are Americans who are willing to exchange calls with Russia and yet be Americans also. This type of people will penetrate the Russian's inbred suspicion."

"In conclusion, Mr. Pearson, the American of an average type is in no danger of becoming Communist, but Russians risk a real danger of getting Americanized—Oh, so easily!"

BUSY PROGRAM IS SHAPING UP

Expanded Recreational Plan Developed By City Department

A widely expanded recreation program, utilizing school buildings and the fairgrounds exhibition building, as well as the city building on South 14th street, is being planned this fall and winter by the Escanaba recreation department.

Badminton will begin at the senior high school gymnasium Thursday night and will be played each Thursday during the winter season, the city recreation department has announced. Bill Puckelwartz will be in charge of the program.

Volleyball will be played Wednesday evenings at the senior high school gymnasium with Puckelwartz conducting, but the volleyball schedule will not open this week.

Any persons desiring to play either badminton or volleyball are asked to report at the senior high gym on those nights or contact Puckelwartz or the city recreation center.

The city basketball league practice rounds will open Nov. 5 at the junior high school gymnasium and Thursday will be played Tuesday and Thursday nights. Cliff Frazzler will be in charge of this program. Jim Rouman will head up a grade school basketball program on Saturdays.

Woodworking Classes
In addition to the boxing training program opening tonight at the state fairgrounds exhibition building, the city recreation department also will develop indoor horseshoe pitching and indoor archery at the exhibition building this winter, as well as indoor ice skating. A new snack bar will be installed at the building.

Woodworking equipment that previously was located at the city recreation center, S. 14th street, has been moved to junior high school and the vocational school. Public classes in woodworking will open late in October, with the city recreation department cooperating with the Adult Education school.

The after-school recreational programs previously conducted at the S. 14th street building will be held this year in neighborhood grade schools, the program to begin in a week or two.

Mrs. LaChapelle's handicraft classes, also held at the recreation center in the past, will be conducted this year at the domestic science room, junior high school building, and will be held five nights per week.

The city recreation center is being converted into a youth center for Club 314 and will be open to this group by October 25.

OPA Cracks Down On Builders Who Violate Ceilings

Washington, (AP)—The OPA launched a nationwide crackdown on builders or others who violate ceiling price and veterans' preference regulations of the housing program, promising "criminal prosecutions" where necessary.

A special trained force of OPA agents took the field Monday to press the drive in cooperation with more than 550 local OPA rent offices.

The announcement came as Senator Wiley (R-Wis.) of the Senate Judiciary committee released correspondence with Attorney General Clark and Price Administrator Porter questioning the right of OPA agents to carry arms and make arrests.

Wiley wrote the officials last month that there is "some question as to the present legal authority for actions of the OPA enforcement staff" and demanded to know under what law they were acting.

Porter cited a statute which he said gives the agents the power to make arrests and added that "the right to carry weapons for defense necessarily flows from" that power.

Pontiac, Mich.—City Manager George E. Bean, who underwent an emergency operation for removal of his appendix in Pontiac General Hospital, was reported to be recovering satisfactorily today.

Belgian Girl Describes Homeland In Wartime

Despite current meat and food shortages, America appears to be still the "land of plenty" to Ann Vekens, petite and attractive Belgian girl, who Saturday was married to William J. Longtime of Houghton at a St. Joseph's church wedding in Escanaba.

Mrs. Longtime went through the trials and tribulations of the Nazi bombings, invasion and occupation of her homeland, and also the bombings by Allied planes before and after the Normandy beach landing. Her parents' home in Haine, St. Paul, Belgium was struck eight times during the British and American raids. Then, the train, on which she was riding while fleeing from the German invaders, was also attacked by the Luftwaffe. Luckily she escaped injury throughout the war.

1942 Winter Was 'Toughest'
"The winter of 1942 was the hardest period for us in Belgium," Mrs. Longtime said. "We had no butter and potatoes for months, and when the Belgian people cannot have their potatoes it's bad. There was very little meat that winter. We would get it only once per month."

Strick rationing was in effect in Belgium throughout the Nazi occupation. Meat rations were fixed at one-tenth of a pound per person daily, and butter at only five-tenths of a pound per month. Belgium also had its black markets, she reluctantly admitted.

Mrs. Longtime met her husband when he was serving with the Army Engineers on Valentine's day, Feb. 14, 1945. He was then stationed at LaLouvriere, two miles from Haine, where an Army base was constructed. She was employed in a secretarial position in the office of Chametel, Ltd., dealers in industrial coal, oil, iron and steel.

"I met Bill when he came to our office to get some materials for the construction work at the army base," she explained. "As I could speak English, I got the chance to talk to him. We met many times after that."

Mrs. Longtime, who readily confessed she is 25 years old, spent her childhood years at Haine, one of a group of closely-adjointing towns in the central part of Belgium. Haine is 10 miles from Charleroi and 32 miles from Brussels.

The only child in the family, Ann went to high school in nearby LaLouvriere, population 30,000, and later finished a secretarial course at the commercial college there. Like most Europeans, she speaks several languages and dialects, including French, English, Flemish and Walloon Belgian, and German.

Fled Toward France
Haine was first bombed by the German Luftwaffe on May 10, 1940, and three days later the Nazi blitzkrieg troops were only 20 miles away. There was a mad scramble to evacuate the town, the Belgians picking up whatever belongings they could carry and fleeing toward the French border. Some went by automobiles, others on foot, but Mrs. Longtime was able to catch a train, which went to the French border.

The Nazi army was moving so rapidly, however, that it soon became apparent that France offered no refuge for the fleeing Belgians. So Mrs. Longtime and others decided to head toward the coast in an effort to escape to England. When they arrived in Ostend, on the seacoast, their train was bombed by German flyers. They stayed without food for three days at Ostend. There was no chance to get a boat to flee across the English channel. The Germans were approaching Ostend rapidly, so the refugees decided they might as well go back home and endure the Nazi occupation.

Mrs. Longtime walked about ninety miles from Ostend to Haine, traveling from 15 to 19 miles per day.

Listened to BBC Secretly
Mrs. Longtime said that her family encountered no troubles with the occupying German forces. She said the Nais were strict in enforcing their regulations. The Belgian Resistance movement, however, remained active throughout the occupation, members of which published and circulated secret newspapers and supplied information to the Allies. Some prominent Belgian citizens were taken as hostages and executed to discourage the killing of German soldiers and the commission of other sabotage by the Maquis.

Belgian radio stations were

controlled by the Germans during the occupation, Mrs. Longtime said but the people managed to listen to BBC broadcasts from London, always making sure first that no Gestapo officers were in the neighborhood. The Germans usually "jammed" the BBC broadcasts, making it difficult sometimes for the Belgians to understand the announcements.

For four years, the Belgian people listened to the BBC announcer's exhortations. "We are coming, we are coming," said Mrs. Longtime. They were discouraged to learn that the British landing at Dieppe was only a testing operation, and when the Allies landed on the Normandy beachhead.

"We were all glad to hear about the Normandy invasion, but we were also fearful at the time that it might turn out to be another Dieppe," Mrs. Longtime said.

Liberation Day Exciting

Liberation day at LaLouvriere on Sept. 4, 1944 was the most exciting experience in her life.

"When the first American tanks arrived in town, the people went wild," Mrs. Longtime said. "It was so funny to see the GI's coming into town with their faces black with dirt, and a few minutes later white and red with lipstick from the kisses of Belgian girls. The happy people were so excited that some of them threw vases, as well as flowers, at the tanks and jeeps. I saw many women toss their babies to the GI's to be kissed. Many women handed out biscuits, which they had baked and had been saving for several days to give to the liberators."

"It's hard to describe one's emotions in such excitement," Mrs. Longtime said. "The best way I could say it is that my heart felt as if it were a cocktail shaker."

Preceding the liberation, the Belgians took the bombing of their homes as a matter of course as they realized it was necessary for the winning of the war, Mrs. Longtime said. Haine was bombed 14 times in six months, since it was regarded as an important military objective because of the railroad shops located there. The last time the Vekens home was bombed was on May 9, 1944, at three o'clock in the morning. The roof and ceilings of the home caved in, and Mrs. Longtime and her parents then went to her grandmother's home in the country.

Bill Longtime moved with the Army Engineers to other parts of the European war zone following his stay at Area G in LaLouvriere, and returned to this country in the fall of 1945, arriving at New York Oct. 12. Ann Vekens left Belgium July 26, 1946 for LaHavre, France, and embarked on the Steamship Brail the next day. She arrived in New York Aug. 4, and has been visiting with Bill's relatives in Houghton and Escanaba. Their marriage Saturday occurred exactly a year after Bill's return to this country. He is a brother of Mrs. John G. Groeschel, 511 First avenue south.

WELDED WOOD USED IN PLANE

Diathermy Idea Utilized In Building Hughes Flying Boat

By RALPH DIGHTON (AP Newsfeatures)

Los Angeles—When Howard Hughes' $20,000,000 plywood flying boat takes to the air it will become a flying memorial to a once-secret, still mystifying gadget known as an electri-bond polymerizer.

The gadget welds pieces of wood together by means of high-frequency radio waves.

The Hughes plane, constructed almost entirely of wood, probably would never have been built without some machine as the wood welder, says its originator, Jack Cunningham. Nails, screws and angle irons would have meant too much extra weight, he says, and the old clamp-and-glue method of joining wood sections would have taken too long.

Boils Glue Into Wood
In conventional metal aircraft, structural angles are riveted, welded or screwed together. In the Hughes plane, a special synthetic resin glue was applied to the pieces to be joined, the pieces placed in position, and the short wave machine turned on. These waves created a high heat inside the wood, made the glue boil and completely and permanently fused the pieces of wood in a matter of seconds.

Cunningham has adapted the same principle to the housing industry, speeding up the manufacture of prefabricated homes and salvaging millions of board feet of lumber that otherwise would have been wasted.

His polymerizer welds the inside and outside walls and studs of a prefabricated house in three minutes, a job that takes a carpenter several hours. Scraps of lumber always left over in any wood-working job can be welded into a fresh plank for any purpose where rough stock is needed. Actually, Cunningham claims, most of the furniture (except for veneering) can be made from polymerized scrap wood left over from building the house.

Born of a Toothache

A former automobile dealer, Cunningham got the idea for his wood welder while taking diathermy treatments for a sinus condition. He noticed that while he felt no heat on his face, his teeth began aching from the internal heat. He looked up the maker of the diathermy machine and they worked out a method of adapting the principal to weld wood.

During the war, the welder made transport planes and gliders. It was a top secret until V-J day.

The Hughes plane is the biggest, most spectacular project yet tackled by the Cunningham machine, but its originator now is more interested in what it can do to meet the housing crisis.

Veneer for the Hughes plywood flying boat was produced in the Birds Eye Veneer company plant in Escanaba.

Early Meeting Sure In Maritime Strike Peace Negotiations

Washington, (AP)—Secretary of Labor Schwellenbach received assurances from Atlantic and Gulf Coast Ship Operators they will arrange an "early meeting" with striking engineers in the 12-day old maritime tieup, the Labor Department announced.

The Atlantic and Gulf Operators had walked out of the negotiations here Thursday night claiming the union's position made further discussions "futile."

Subsequently the union, the CIO Marine Engineers Beneficial Association, offered to negotiate a contract at once with the Atlantic and Gulf Operators, instead of insisting on a nationwide agreement.

A labor department spokesman told reporters Schwellenbach had telegraphed to Frank J. Taylor head of the operator's group, a copy of the commitment offered yesterday by the Marine Engineers.

Mrs. Jos. Collins, Resident For Many Years, Dies Monday

Mrs. Joseph Collins, 70, resident of this city for nearly half a century, died yesterday afternoon at her home at 403 South 18th street. She had been in ill health for the past year.

Mrs. Collins was born in New Richmond, Quebec, on Nov. 11, 1876, and came to Escanaba 47 years ago. She was a member of St. Patrick church, its Ladies Guild, and of the Daughters of Isabella.

She is survived by her husband, a daughter, Evalyn, at home; three sisters, Mrs. Faye Moreau of Portland, Maine, Mrs. Peter Cyr of New Richmond, Que., Mrs. Tinnie McKenzie of Boston; a brother, Walter Murphy of New Richmond.

The body was taken to the Degan funeral home, where it will be in state tonight at seven o'clock. Funeral services will be held Thursday morning at 9 o'clock at a solemn high requiem mass at St. Patrick church. Burial will be in St. Joseph cemetery.

Adoption Of No. 2 Amendment Is Urged By Kiwanis Speaker

Adoption of the No. 2 amendment proposal at the polls on Nov. 5 would give the schools of Michigan their first real opportunity to properly finance their educational programs, George Ruwitch, Escanaba high school football coach said in a talk at the meeting of the Kiwanis club yesterday noon.

After discussing the proposed amendment briefly, Ruwitch talked about the football prospects of the Escanaba high school. He said that the Eskymos are faring much better than he expected before the season opened. The high school eleven, however, faces tough games with Iron Mountain, Marinette and Gladstone.

The No. 2 amendment proposal provides for the diversion of one cent of the three-cent sales tax to the schools and municipalities, one-half of the revenues going to each, Ruwitch explained.

He stressed that it would not increase taxes, and pointed out that the procedure is nothing new. State revenues from the weight and gas taxes are now ear-marked for road purposes. He added that California has been using a portion of sales tax revenues for the support of its schools for several years.

Passage of the amendment proposal would eliminate the uncertainty that faces school districts when they draft their annual budgets, since for years they have been dependent for state aid upon the whims of the legislature, the speaker said.

CONCRETE CORP. ORGANIZED HERE

Plant Will Be Located Near Bichler Pit At Groos

Announcement was made yesterday that a group of local business men have organized the Escanaba Concrete corporation for the production and distribution of ready-mixed concrete for construction work in this area. H. R. Hittchings, Old State road, Escanaba, is president and general manager.

The new corporation, which is capitalized at $50,000, has leased a tract of land near the Bichler plant at Groos, where it will erect a plant and install its machinery and equipment during the coming winter. Operations will begin in the spring.

Sand and gravel will be supplied by the Bichler company. A 600-barrel bulk cement plant and a 150 cubic yard aggregate container will be constructed, making possible the production of 250 cubic yards of concrete in eight hours. The new corporation also has ordered four Jaeger transit mixers, which will be used to truck the ready-mixed concrete to customers within a 20-mile radius.

The new plant will be located on a siding of the Escanaba and Lake Superior railway. It will employ from 10 to 15 men and will operate the year round, Mr. Hittchings said.

Mr. Hittchings previously was employed for 23 years with a construction company operating throughout the Middle West.

New Tooth Powder Stops Tooth Decay

Palm Springs, Calif.—A tooth powder which takes a long stride in the direction of eliminating tooth decay was reported here today by Dr. Robert G. Kesel, of the University of Illinois.

Dr. Kesel said that the dentifrice alone cannot control tooth decay, but that it markedly reduces the bacilli of the mouth associated with caries. The dentifrice plus a little management of diet may establish initial control of caries, Dr. Kesel said, indicating that once decay is stopped the dentifrice might be able to maintain control.

Caries activity, Dr. Kesel explained, is measured by the count in the saliva of lactobacillus acidophilus, a long rod-shaped bacteria. When the lactobacillus is present in large quantities, caries activity is high; when it is absent, there is no caries activity.

Plastics Factory Building Will Be Erected At Powers

Construction work is being rushed at Powers on a 60 by 80 foot factory building near the Chicago & North Western railroad station on the site of the old Menominee county warehouse, for Powers Industries, which will manufacture plastic products and metal stampings.

The village of Powers is erecting the building, which will have boiler room and office wings. Ernest Kraut of Bark River, the contractor, expects to have the building ready by November 1. The building will be of concrete block construction with steel sash and beams.

Harry Dempsey, a native of Manistee, Mich., and recently of Detroit, who holds a patent process for paper and metal stampings and plastics, will operate Powers Industries. He hopes to open with a crew of 10 workers and has already leased land and is making plans for expansion.

Dempsey, a production engineer in Detroit during the war, operated his own tool and die plant. He has an inventor as a partner in Powers Industries and if its patented products click as expected, the plant may soon expand to triple its planned size, he said.

Powers Industries will manufacture metal stampings for the motor car makers in Michigan and Wisconsin.

Mrs. Dempsey is the former Florence E. Finnerty of Powers. They have three daughters, the youngest in high school.

The building, being constructed by the village of Powers, will cost $3,000. Dempsey deposited $1,500 with the village as a guarantee of production and agreed to install a well, lights and heating. After his plant gets into production, the $1,500 will be returned to him.

Former Residents
Are Wed 60 Years

Mr. and Mrs. Axel W. Peterson of Iron Mountain, former residents of this city, observed their 60th wedding anniversary on Friday, at a party given for them in the afternoon and evening at the First Lutheran church in Iron Mountain.

Mr. and Mrs. Peterson moved from Escanaba to Iron Mountain in 1901. They were married here on Oct. 11, 1886, at the home of his uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Nels Johnson. The Rev. A. O. Olander of Orion, Ill., who was in charge of preaching services at the Bethany Lutheran church in Escanaba, performed the ceremony.

They made their home here for 15 years, during which time Mr. Peterson was employed in seasonal work by the Chicago and Northwestern Railway company. In 1901, he was transferred to Iron Mountain by the company, working as a boiler-maker, a trade which he had learned in Sweden where he was born. In 1937, after working for the railroad for 50 years, he retired.

Mr. and Mrs. Peterson have eight children living. One of their daughters, Mrs. Albin Person, is a resident of this city. They also have 27 grandchildren and 13 great-grandchildren.

OCTOBER BRIDE—At a recent ceremony which took place at the Calvary Baptist church, Miss Mildred Little, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gust Eliason, 1412 Stephenson avenue, became the bride of Alexander Empel, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Mettloff of Dearborn. The couple will make their home in Escanaba temporarily. (Selkirk Photo.)

Santa Fe Trail Is Theme Of California's Newest Fashions

Inspired by the Grand Canyon, California designers have created this all-over print of the canyon in vivid reds, golds, purples and pinks on a white background for this fall-backed beach coat that tops a chalk-white suit.

By NAOMI BLACK
NEA Special Correspondent
Los Angeles, (NEA).—With a forward look to the American woman's fashion needs for next spring and summer and a backward glance at the West's most fabulous era, California textile designers take the Santa Fe Trail as the theme for the most spectacular fabric and fashion showing this market has known.

Hand-screened prints comprising 50 designs, created by California Authentic and depicting the various phases of Santa Fe Trail history, were shown on the very rim of the Grand Canyon. Lending themselves readily to textile interpretation were fabrics from famous mills including such textures as one-denier rayon crepe and 75-denier weaves of rayon crepe, shantung rayon, superlative novelties and celanese jersey.

Twenty-four top-name California designers have turned these fabrics into play clothes, casual wear, swim suits, afternoon dresses, teen-age garments, blouses and slacks suits. Flashing through the collection are vibrant colors and unconventional designs. Prints are large and small, closely spaced and widely scattered; bayadered and bordered. Borders—often 14 inches deep—depict such colorful scenes as the buffalo hunt, a brilliant six-color print of feathered Indian warriors on galloping ponies charging a buffalo herd against a backdrop of purple mountains. As spectacular is "Santa Fe Train Time," a finely drawn panorama of the early days complete with travelers, covered wagons, friendly Indians and the historic "trail" posed against a backdrop of the early Western town.

"Zuni war dance" is another motif used. This is an action pattern of elaborately costumed Indians in various motions of the historical dance. Widely spaced prints include "Kachina masks," authentic reproductions of ceremonial dances. The masks are in brilliant blues, reds, greens and yellow on a mat-black background. "Indian war bonnets," reproduces a series of famous bonnets on a dark background.

Other wide-spaced designs include the flowers of the west, Indian pottery motifs, wagon wheels and the fantastically beautiful designs found in Indian bead work and sand paintings.

All-over prints pay style tribute to Taos in picturizations of that famous landmark. Pueblo land in a panorama motif of pueblitos, yucca, cactus and miners and Grand Canyon in a colorful delineation of vast expanses of layered strata of purple, gold green and red. Stripes throughout the group of Santa Fe Trail-inspired prints are mostly broken and tend to give the effect of an all-over design. An example is the broken stripe used in the pattern called "Kachina dolls," small wooden images made by Hopi Indians. Faithful to the natural willow-root color is the motif of the doll, dressed in colorful red and blue costumes and feathered headdresses which the tribe favored for ceremonial dances.

Dull Flat Voice Is
Hazard To Success

BY ALICIA HART
Don't let a dull, flat voice—which can be given a lifting lift with practice—drive your listeners away.

There's a good way to detect monotony in one's own voice. Put cotton in your ears while you carry on a normally loud conversation with yourself, says Helen ("Hour Glass") Parrish, whose enameled voice charms a vast radio audience.

If you discover that your speech needs lifting from a dead level, she suggests using three simple voice-training tricks. First practice lifting your voice at the middle and at the end of a long sentence. If the sentence is short, send inflection up at the end.

Second, learn to give sentences different emphasis, depending upon their importance. Third, learn to pause with effect between words and sentences.

While you're at it, why not learn to articulate better? You can by giving yourself a reading-aloud lesson every day, and taking care to enunciate each word and phrase more distinctly.

If you were studying with one famous radio coach, she would teach you to sing the singing sounds: "n's" and "ng's"; to burst your "p's"; toss your "t's"; and hum your "m's".

Society of Automotive Engineers indicates that aircraft design and construction techniques, if applied to the automotive industry, will result in lighter cars and improvements in structural use of materials.

PRIEST CALLS TITO BANDIT

Sentence Of Archbishop
Denounced In Talk
At K. C. Rally

Marshall Tito and his Communist-controlled Yugoslavian government were bitterly denounced by Rev. Fr. Victor Rogulj, Calumet, a native of Croatia, in a stirring address delivered at the Knights of Columbus banquet at St. Joseph's hall Sunday night.

Father Rogulj charged that the recent sentence of Archbishop Alojzije Stepinac to 16 years of hard labor, following his conviction on charges of collaboration with the Axis, was part of a Communist plot to stamp out the Catholic church in Yugoslavia. Born and educated in Croatia, now a part of Yugoslavia, Father Rogulj taught history in his native land for a few years.

Tito An Old Bandit

"We Croats know Marshall Tito as an old bandit," Father Rogulj declared. "His real name is Josp Broz. He organized the bandits in the mountains, and during World War I was captured by Russians. Later he joined the Communists, who gave him military and political training. In 1924, Broz returned to Yugoslavia and led the underground Communist organization. In 1936, he organized the international brigades to fight for the Communists in the Spanish civil war."

Father Rogulj said that the name, Tito, was assumed by Broz from the initials of the Third International Terrorist Organization. During World War II, Tito headed the Partisan guerrillas which, he said, received the support of the Russians and later won the approval of the Allies.

"Why President Roosevelt and Prime Minister Churchill welcomed Tito as an ally, I do not understand," Father Rogulj continued. "Anyone who comes from those lands knows what the Communists want and where they are going. That section of Europe from Trieste to the Baltic sea is now under the heel of the most totalitarian government in the world. Only Greece still enjoys some traces of freedom and liberty."

Catholic Church Suffers

The Calumet priest said during the past year of Tito's dictatorship in Yugoslavia the Catholic church has suffered more persecution than during the Turkish invasions. A total of 560 Catholic priests have been executed, 300 without trial, he added.

"My own brother and his two sons were killed by the Communists because they were Croats and Catholics," Father Rogulj declared. He added that it has been impossible to receive news from his relatives, except for secret information gained from the underground.

Since Tito's rise to power in Yugoslavia, the teaching of religion by Catholic priests has been forbidden in the Croatian schools, although this had been the practice for centuries, the priest said. The Croats are virtually all Catholics and some months ago voted almost unanimously for a renunciation of Catholic training, but their wishes were disregarded by the government.

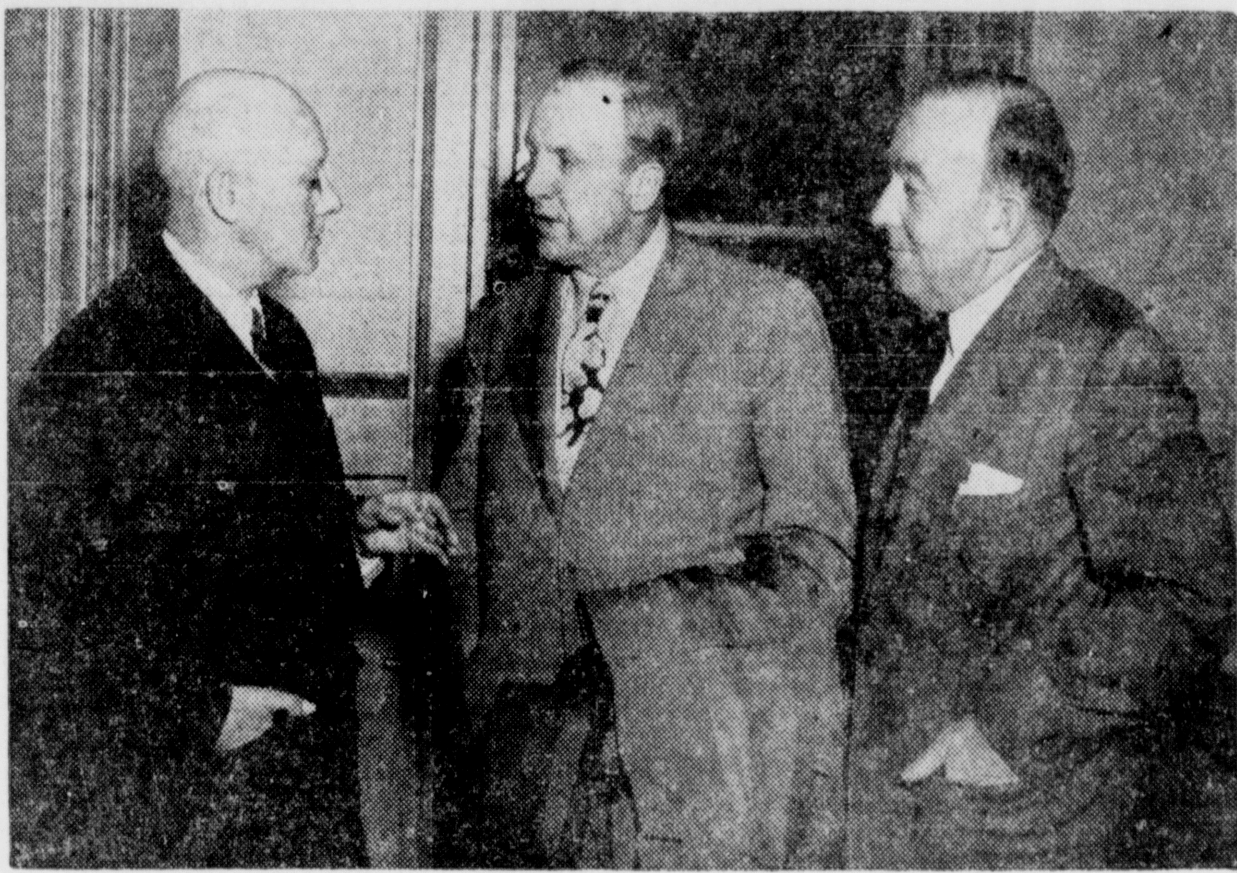

Father Rogulj said that Archbishop Stepinac aroused the enmity of the Tito government when he issued a pastoral letter on Sept. 25, 1945, protesting the treatment the Catholics were receiving. His conviction by the three-man court on charges of Axis collaboration has been protested by Catholic leaders and organizations.

"Today the Catholic church is condemned to death in that land," Father Rogulj asserted. "The Communists have their plans. They know what they are doing for they have been trained for it. Let us not be fooled by the Communist programs. We must keep America as a model for other worlds, preserving forever the four freedoms—religion, speech, assembly and press. Let's stand by America."

More than three hundred K. of C. members and their ladies attended the banquet. John A. Lemmer was the toastmaster, and other speakers included Mayor Marvin L. Coon, Atty. Denis McGinn, Patrick Bennett, Marquette, master of the Fourth Degree, Gervase Murphy, Calumet, supreme director of the Knights of Columbus. The St. Joseph high school glee club sang a group of numbers, while Albert Shomonto played two trombone solos, with Toni Giansanti at the piano.

100 Candidates

Members of the order attended high mass at St. Joseph's church in a body in the morning. The exemplification of the Fourth Degree and the initiation of about 100 candidates from all over the DEMOCRATS CONFER—Three Democratic candidates for state offices met in Escanaba Friday night for a campaign rally at city hall. Marvin L. Coon (left), Escanaba mayor and Democratic candidate for auditor general, arrived in Escanaba Friday night from Lower Michigan where he had been on a campaign tour. Murray D. Van Wagoner, (center) candidate for governor, and Atty. Thurman B. Doyle, (right) of Menominee, completed their campaign swing through the U. P. in Escanaba.

Amendment No. 2 Would Help Escanaba Schools

The school district of Escanaba would gain at least $103,960 additional school aid under Proposal No. 2, the so-called sales tax amendment to the state constitution, if adopted by the voters November 5, according to statistics to be published in an October special number of the Michigan Education Journal. The Journal is the official publication of the Michigan Education Association, which has unanimously endorsed Proposal No. 2.

Assuming that sales tax collections by the state will continue at the present rate, Proposal No. 2 would bring to the local school district an additional sum of not less than $30 and more likely closer to $40 per child in school, the magazine states.

All Schools Would Benefit
Estimating total sales tax revenues for the current fiscal year at $140,000,000, the public schools of the state would receive $23,333,333 of the direct return of one-sixth of the total collection, and would also receive $2.6 per cent of the total sales tax collection to be distributed by the Legislature, as is the present practice. This would make a total state aid distribution of approximately $83,000,000 for schools in addition to the Primary School Interest Fund (approximately $18,500,000). This compares with $60,000,000 state aid now received by schools, including the Primary School Interest Fund.

If sales tax revenues are dropped to $120,000,000 for the fiscal year, schools would still get approximately $30,000,000 more state aid than they are now receiving, or an average of $30 per child, since there are nearly a million school children in the classes of public schools today.

Need For $104,500,000 Shown

The Michigan Education Association has stated on the basis of surveys, that at least $104,500,000 is needed now to pay salaries that will hold and attract capable teachers, to buy supplies, to make repairs and replacements, and to make a start toward a school building program. It recommends that if Proposal No. 2 is adopted, the additional funds for schools be available first for teachers salaries and then for the resumption of a school building program.

For comparison, the Michigan Education association also set up a column of figures showing that Escanaba school district would receive in addition to its present state aid, a total of $39,985 if the legislature were to increase state aid to $75,000,000 instead of the present $60,000,000. This amount is compared with the minimum of $103,960 and the maximum $111,099 that Escanaba school district would receive under Proposal No. 2.

TWO FACTORS INJURE DUCKS

Drouth And Farms Are Cited By Canadian
Game Officials

By BERT STOLL

With reduced wild duck populations causing a sharply curtailed season and smaller bag limits this fall, Dr. Harrison F. Lewis, recent comprehensive report on Canadian duck reproduction is pertinent and of keen interest to Michigan sportsmen.

Lewis, superintendent of wildlife protection of the Canadian department of mines and resources, presented his report on "Canada and Ducks" at the recent convention of the International Association of Game, Fish and Conservation Commissioners.

"Exceptional drouths in the Canadian prairie provinces of the early 1930's played a large part in reducing the continental duck population to a minimum," Lewis said. "In both 1945 and the present year drouths have again interfered seriously with duck reproduction in large areas on both sides of the Alberta-Saskatchewan border."

Canada Major Source

"Drouths in northern and northwestern Alberta have also caused reduction of water areas in recent years. Development of large numbers of well-planned water projects is a safeguard against drouth and will mitigate its effects, but any serious lowering of the annual precipitation is inevitably reflected in a great reduction of shallow waters and less successful reproduction by the duck population."

It is generally recognized, Lewis added, that Canada produces most of the wild ducks of North America, probably between 70 and 85 per cent.

"Most of the ducks that are in Canada in summer migrate into the United States before winter,"

The local board previously had received a quota of 12 men for induction and 24 for preinduction examinations. The groups were scheduled to leave Oct. 22 and 23. Even before the notice of cancellation was received from state headquarters, however, it was obvious that there would be no men called for induction from Delta county this month, despite the assigned quota. The local board has informed state headquarters that no local registrations were available for induction at this time. The group available for preinduction examination was considerably less than the assigned quota of 24 men.

The telegram received by the local board from state headquarters merely reported the cancellation of orders for preinduction or induction of registrants after October 15. The national headquarters, however, indicated that the war department does not seek any additional draftees for the remainder of the year.

Draft orders had not been mailed out to registrants for the October call prior to the receipt of the cancellation order.

New Oil Burner Will Save Fuel

Lowell, Mass.—Savings in fuel are claimed for a new-type oil burner for industrial and other large heating and power plants. Over coal, in costs of fuels only, a saving of one-third was made in a year's test in adjacent identical boilers, both formerly stoker-fed coal burners, one converted to oil.

The new device, called an "arc-heat" burner because it produces a completely white flame, was developed and tested here by the American Heat Corporation. Tests were started in July, 1945, when two burners were installed in a 230-horsepower boiler which had been in use for 38 years. This boiler, and the twin boiler still coal-heated with stoker, used the same stack.

Three features are claimed for the new burner, each a distinctive new development. One is a rarefaction chamber in which the oil comes into head-on collision with air or steam, and is converted into a gas which, in that form, is sprayed into the firebox.

The second feature is a method of taking in free air that requires no blowers or other pressure apparatus. The third is in the field of modulation; a modulating valve varies the amount of fire and therefore the amount of oil consumed. One lever controls the modulating valve and the free-air intake.

COWELL BLDG. MUNISING PHONE 162HUNTER DIES
IN CABIN FIRE*Eugene Berry Is Burned
To Death At Camp
On Sunday

Munising—Eugene Berry, 212 Elm Ave., 53 years old, a resident of Munising for the past 35 years, was accidentally burned to death Sunday, October 13, while he slept in a cabin he and two companions were using as hunting headquarters near Lower Twin Lake, about 12 miles from Munising. The cabin owned by R. W. Nebel of Munising burned to the ground.

Alger county sheriff's department, investigating the fire, said the companions of Mr. Berry, Oran and Kenneth Vadnas, had left the cabin to hunt in the morning. Berry had elected to stay behind to do some work around the camp.

The fire was discovered about 11:00 o'clock Sunday morning when a forest ranger at the fire tower spotted smoke in the vicinity of Twin Lake, more commonly known as Kentucky. Further investigation found the burning cabin.

Fire apparatus using water from Twin Lake, was immediately set up but the cabin burned before it could be brought into use, the sheriff's department said.

Berry's body was found lying on the floor but it is believed by investigating officers he had been asleep on the bed when the fire broke out.

Coroner Lambert and Sheriff Pelletier made the investigation.

Eugene Berry, 53 years old, was born October 10, 1893 at Oscoda, Mich. He is survived by four sons: John, George and Sam of Detroit; and Carl, Emory, a member of the U. S. Army occupation forces in Germany; two daughters: Mrs. Kenneth Vadnas, Munising, and Annette Berry, Detroit; six brothers: Emory, Ernest, Charles of Detroit, Ernest, of Flint; Rex, of Sudbury, Canada; Leo of Saginaw; and Arthur of Cadillac, Mich.; and two sisters: Mrs. Edward Close of Detroit and Cleo of Oscoda.

He was a member of the Munising Order of Moose lodge.

The body was taken to the Beaulieu funeral home. Funeral arrangements are incomplete.

Alaskan Visitor

Mrs. D. Parlett, son Michael of Rapid River, Mrs. De Wayne Stebbins of La Branche, and Mrs. Jack Cooper of Anchorage, Alaska, visited at the Joseph Farley home Monday. Mrs. Cooper had recently arrived from Alaska, motoring with her husband and three daughters, ages 1, 2 and 3, down the Alcan Highway, a distance of 3800 miles in ten days, without a mishap. They were accompanied by another group in a car which they had had poorer tires, for they had three flats and a blow-out. They report a fair road except for a short stretch which is impassable during a rain with which they did not have to contend.

After a short vacation with relatives, they will return the same way. Jack Cooper is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Andy Cooper of Iron Mountain and nephew of Mrs. Farley. Mrs. De Wayne Stebbins is the former Evelyn

COAL SHIPMENT ARRIVES HERE

Local Supply Increased Several Thousand Tons

Manistique's stockpile of coal for domestic use was augmented by several thousand tons by the arrival Sunday night of the carrier Ben Tate, from Toledo, Ohio. The huge ship, well loaded, arrived in the local port about 8 o'clock Sunday evening and unloaded at the Girvin docks, completing the process during the night and leaving early in the morning.

Another ship with cargo for the Miller-Moran company is expected in about ten days.

Deep concern over the local coal situation was expressed by dealers several weeks ago when the carrier Robert Paisley met with a mishap in the local port and the owners had given notice that no more coal would be shipped until the obstruction in the bottom of the port was cleared.

However, assurance was given by the operators of other carriers that shipments would be made.

Radio performers practice from five to 15 hours for every hour on the air.

County Dads Give O.K. To Local Hospital Idea

Adequate assurance of support for a community hospital, should ways and means be provided for the creation of such a project, was made in the passage of a resolution at Monday's meeting of the county board of supervisors in which was promised financial assistance toward its construction and land upon which to build.

The resolution, passed unanimously, follows:

Whereas a group of public spirited citizens of Schoolcraft county recently met to consider ways and means of providing this county with an adequate hospital, and

Whereas, said group appointed A. J. Cayia, Leonard Carley, William Davidson, Walter J. Burns, J. Joseph Herbert, Dr. George A. Shaw, Frank Heinz, Ronald Fiegl and Tom Wilson as a committee to make a study and investigation leading to the establishment and maintenance of an adequate hospital for Schoolcraft county, and

Whereas, said committee has reported to the Schoolcraft county board of supervisors that it approves the building and maintenance of a county hospital and reports that it is in its opinion that approximately one-third of the cost of said hospital can be raised by popular subscription, one-third by federal grant, and the remaining sum by a county bond issue, and

Whereas, a new hospital for Schoolcraft county with adequate facilities is necessary for the health and well being of this community.

Now therefore be it resolved that this board commend the action of said citizens committee and the proposed plan for the financing of the county owned hospital and suggest to said committee that they take all necessary action to secure such a hospital on the conditions suggested in their report to this board.

Be it further resolved that the

Although the Farm Security Administration and the Seed Loan section of the Farm Credit Administration have been abolished, farmers who have been relying on these governmental agencies to see them through certain farming objectives need have no serious worry. Clayton D. Reid, of the Manistique FSA office says.

The Farmers Home Administration, which was passed in the late session of congress merges these agencies and assures better service through them at the county level.

Reid states that plans for administering the Farmers Home Administration Act are not yet complete, although October 31 has been set as the official date for the transfer of assets and liabilities.

"We look upon the change as a splendid thing for the farmers of the Schoolcraft county area," says Reid. "By its action in passing basic legislation, Congress has put its stamp of approval on legislation long sought by various farm organizations. The merger of the two agencies, with an expanded program, will make it possible for us to help more farmers and veterans heretofore unable to get their credit needs taken through regular channels."

Beginning this evening at 7:30 o'clock, there will be a series of revival meetings at the Free Methodist church which will continue every evening except Saturday for the next two weeks.

The Rev. Blakely Grant, pastor of the Free Methodist church at Escanaba, will deliver the gospel messages and the Rev. D. A. MacPhee, of the local church, will have general charge.

WHEEL BREAKS WINDOW

Menominee—A freak automobile accident about 10:30 a. m. today bashed in the plate glass window of the Hermansen & Akey barbershop at 928 Sheridan road, when a runaway wheel of an automobile jumped the curb and bounded into the window.

The car was driven by Delbert Desjardin of 2301 Ruth street who had stopped for the Ogden-Sheridan arterial and was just starting around the corner when the wheel left the axle and rolled across the street. No other car was in its path and it bounded over the curb and crashed through the window and lay on the ledge inside the broken pane.

Trenary Men Admit Going Into Hoover Camp On Whitefish

The breaking and entering of the Orville Hoover camp on the Whitefish River late last week was solved by Michigan State Police with the arrest of Reno Savola and Frad Goin, both of Route 1, Trenary.

Hoover reported that his camp had been entered, two of the windows shot out and the beds slept in. Pancake dough had also been thrown around.

Arrested after questioning, Savola admitted his part in the affair. Goin later came into the police post and surrendered, admitting he had been a party to the breaking.

Both were arraigned before Justice of Peace O. C. Estenson on charges of malicious destruction of property, and upon their pleas of guilty each was fined $10 and costs and ordered to make restitution for damages in the amount of $5.

Scrapping Cardinals Face Ferriss In Final Series Game Today

TENSE HURLING DUEL FORESEEN

Dickson To Start For Nationals, Brecheen In Reserve

BY GAYLE TALBOT
St. Louis, Oct. 14 (AP)—Whatever happens in the seventh and deciding game of the World Series tomorrow, Manager Eddie Dyer's scrapping St. Louis Cardinals already have blasted the myth of the American league's vast post-war supremacy over the National, which was fostered mainly by the slaughter of the Nationals in this year's All-Star game.

In battling from behind three times to deadlock the play-off, the Cards have demonstrated conclusively that they are on a par with the club that made a runaway of the American league race. In several departments, especially fielding, they have looked the superior outfit.

The odds have appeared to be far out of line from the start, and they still look very attractive for those who think the rebounding Red Birds can stop Ted Williams and company tomorrow and wrap up their sixth world championship in nine tries.

Betting Commissioner J. J. Carroll announced today that every $10 bet on the Cards to beat big Dave (Boo) Ferriss in the final would return $12. The same sum placed on the Sox will bring back only $7.

The Nationals, from President Ford Frick on down, were an exuberant crowd today, fully confident that Murry Dickson would duplicate the feat of Brecheen, and hamstring the Sox in the season's grand climax.

Although the Cardinals admit to great respect for Ferriss, who blanketed them with six hits in Boston, they feel that they have quite a pitcher themselves in the pint-sized Dickson. Both sides expect it to be a tense hurling duel.

Whether the Cards ever will get to Ferriss is a question. The 25-game winner looked like he might have kept them away from the plate until sundown in Boston.

Should Dickson wobble at any time tomorrow, or should the Cards need to protect a short lead in the late innings, it is entirely possible that the Sox will have to puzzle over Brecheen's dippy-dooes for the third time. The diminutive lefty said today his arm did not feel tired and that he would be ready if and when manager Dyer beckoned.

Never has a play-off been more greatly blessed with its weather. Day after day the sun has shone on schedule, and the air had only a slight nip one day in Boston. It doesn't seem possible, but the weatherman said tomorrow would be the same, with no rain expected until after the contest.

CHICAGO LIVESTOCK

Chicago, Oct. 14 (AP)—Both grainfed and grassfed cattle showed strength today and lambs reached a new high for the last six weeks, as livestock traders considered the possibility of presidential relaxation of price controls.

Fed steers, yearlings, heifers, and beef cows climbed 25 to 50 cents and were active at the advance, with practically all items going on eastern shipping accounts. Steers and yearling heifers sold freely at the $20.25 ceiling, and most steers brought from $18.25 to $20.25.

Good western grass steers merited $19.75, heifers $18.40, and cows $17.35. Bulls and canner and cutter cows rose 25 cents. Yearlings remained firm at $18.00, the ceiling. Stock cattle were active, selling mostly from $16.50 to $19.00, the latter price a new high mark.

All hogs continued at the $16.25 ceiling, with shippers taking 100 head of the 1,000 on sale. Packer brought in 100 on direct consignment.

Native lambs topped the market at $21.00, with westerns going between $20.25 and $20.50. Shorn slaughter ewes were steady to 25 cents lower, good and choice westerns taking $10.25. Receipts included 5,500 cattle, 800 calves, and 6,500 sheep.

Michigan Trip Puts Army Team On Top In Football Polls

BY SID FEDER

New York, Oct. 14 (AP)—Some GI's may be bothered with a housing problem, but Army's football forces took a trip out to Michigan over the week-end and signed a new lease on the throne room of the nation's collegiate football.

And while Col. Earl Blaik's black knights of the Hudson were returning to the head of the parade from which they were ousted a week ago after a two-year tenancy, the honeymoon was definitely ended for the Texas Longhorns who did the ousting last week. For, the nation's sports writers, balloting in the Associated Press' weekly poll on the rankings of the country's football teams, dropped Texas all the way to third, behind the Irish of Notre Dame.

Altogether, 139 writers named their choices for the leading ten teams in the country after last week-end's scramble, and 63 of them showed, by their first-place nominations, that Army could come home now—all is forgiven. Based on a point-scoring system, 10 points for a first place ballot, 9 for a second, 8 for a third, and so on, Army piled up 1,267½ points in the voting as a result of its 20-13 win over Michigan at Ann Arbor last Saturday.

The Longhorns were given 38 votes for the top spot, and while they drew more than Notre Dame's 31 for the No. 1 position, the Irish rolled up a huge second-place ballot—51½ to 31 for Texas—to take second honors for the week.

As a result, Notre Dame rolled up 1,193½ points against 1,170 for the Longhorns.

Nor did the defeat by Army have too much effect on the voters, because the Wolverines, fourth last week, fell only one notch to fifth, in spite of the setback. Skipping up to the thus vacated fourth spot in the chorus were the Bruins of University of California at Los Angeles, who sank Stanford 26-6 for their third straight win.

The only first place votes not received by the top four were a pair that went to George Munn's piling-driving Pennsylvanians, who collected 502 points for sixth place, just 40 short of Michigan's 542.

Alabama dropped to seventh with 470 points and Georgia and Tennessee broke their eighth-place tie of last week, the Bulldogs holding eighth with 356, and the Vols winding up ninth with 336. Rounding out the select set, Northwestern remained in tenth place with 203½ points as a result of its one-touchdown win over Minnesota.

Standings of the top ten teams (first place votes in parentheses; points based on 10-9-8-7-6-5-4-3-2-1 system):

- 1—Army (63) 1,267½
- 2—Notre Dame (31) 1,193½
- 3—Texas (38) 1,170
- 4—U. C. L. A. (5) 763
- 5—Michigan 542
- 6—Pennsylvania (2) 502
- 7—Alabama 470
- 8—Georgia 356
- 9—Tennessee 336
- 10—Northwestern 203½

The second ten: 11—Columbia, 189½; 12—Louisiana State, 125; 13—Oklahoma, 109; 14—Arkansas, 25; 15—North Carolina, 23; 16—Rice, 19; 17—Duke, 15; 18—Indiana, 12; 19—William & Mary, 11; 20—Tie between Wisconsin and Tulsa, 10 each.

Others receiving one or more points included Illinois and Ohio State, 2 each.

Of the $335,000,000 spent by the United States on World War II, $20,000,000 went into the Italian campaign.

Reiser Injuries Cost Brooklyn NL Pennant

Pete Reiser was a spectacular ballplayer, stealing home seven times this season.

BY HARRY GRAYSON
New York (NEA)—The Dodgers, who would have been no fight to a finish in the National League, that they would have won in a walk but for the repeated injuries to their spark, Pete Reiser.

Pistol Pete was the difference even though he had just returned to the lineup after having been out for a month when he fractured a fibula in his leg sliding back to first base three days before the season closed.

With Reiser working a good share of the time, the Brooklyn moved into the Polo Grounds, July 4, with a seven-and-a-half length lead.

Reiser was a remarkable ballplayer even with the clavicle separation in his shoulder that made throwing somewhat akin to a terrible toothache.

Young Reiser had anticipated spending the off-season in a hospital, anyway, having made up his mind to let Dr. Robert F. Hyland of St. Louis operate in an attempt to fix his throwing apparatus, the injury to which also affected his patented swing at the plate.

Reiser was too daring for his own good. He was an electrifying, stand-up-and-cheer ballplayer. He was always bumping into fences chasing flies, once this year was carried from Ebbets Field with a contusion after finding the brick wall harder than his head.

Reiser was the finest base-runner that has come along in years, swiped 35 bases in 122 games, stole home seven times.

With Reiser leading them, Leo Durocher's youngsters drove the opposition nuts once they were on the bases, and that is where they frequently found themselves.

This was not the first time the Brooks found themselves hard pressed without Reiser.

The Cardinals overtook and topped them in 1942 when Reiser's batting fell off following his collision with the wall in St. Louis.

There is reason to believe that it would not have been much of a contest this trip had Pete Reiser been and remained sound.

But, then, the Red Birds lost Max Lanier, Fred Martin and Lou Klein to the Mexican League and traded Emil Verban to the Phillies for Clyde Klutts.

Klutts was little more than catching insurance when Joe Garagiola bounced to the fore.

The swapping of stylish Emil Verban prove unwise. Had he been retained, Red Schoendienst could have been switched back to left field, and there would not have been the gaping hole that was the sixth slot in the batting order.

The Sports Parade

Iron Mountain's stunning 7-6 victory over Menominee Saturday, coupled with Negaunee's 12-6 decision over Houghton Friday night, removed two more teams from the undefeated list, leaving only three teams in the fight for the U. P. championship. They are Gladstone and Ironwood, both unbeaten against U. P. competition, and Stambaugh, with a tie and four victories. Ironwood plays at Menominee this week and may be removed from the list of challengers. Gladstone has three hurdles to take, two of them toughest, against Ishpeming and Escanaba, plus a breather against Stephentown. Stambaugh seems certain to finish undefeated as the Hilltoppers have only one obstacle remaining—Kingsford—and the Flivvers hardly stack up with Stambaugh.

Last week in ranking the 11 outstanding U. P. football teams we placed Gladstone and Menominee in a first place tie, followed by Ironwood, Escanaba, Stambaugh, Houghton, Norway, Soo, Iron Mountain and Newberry in that order. With the games of the past weekend figured in the rankings, they look like this now:

1. Gladstone, 2. Menominee, 3. Ironwood, 4. Escanaba, 5. Iron Mountain, 6. Stambaugh, 7. Norway, 8. Soo, 9. Ishpeming, 10. Newberry.

The rankings, of course, are subject to considerable attack because we have Menominee three places higher than Iron Mountain, a team that defeated the Maroons, and the Mountaineers ranked ahead of Stambaugh and Norway, both of whom have scored narrow victories over Iron Mountain. Nevertheless, that's the way they look from here at this stage of the season.

Iron Mountain can credit the Eskymos with an assist for the Mountaineers' upset victory over Menominee Saturday. For one thing the Maroons absorbed considerable punishment from Escanaba the previous week. Their center was knocked out of action and some of the other boys sustained varying degrees of bruises.

The main factor in Menominee's defeat at Iron Mountain, however, was overconfidence, the bugaboo of high school football. The Maroons definitely were pointing ahead for Ironwood and discounted the possibility of losing to Iron Mountain. The Mountaineers, on the other hand, were pitched high for that battle. Incidentally, it'll cost the Menominee faithful 90c on the line to see the Ironwood game under the lights this week—75c plus 15c tax.

Poor play selection cost Houghton a tie and possible victory against Negaunee Friday night. Noble, powerful Houghton ball carrier, lugged the piskin most of the length of the field right down to the doorstep of the Negaunee goal but with third down, two yards from a touchdown, Houghton resorted to two passes and both were incomplete. There was a similar situation in the Stambaugh-Iron River game. After Kepenske, Iron River ace, spearheaded a drive down to pay dirt, a yard from the goal, the Redskins played four successive downs without Kepenske carrying on any of them. They missed that touchdown, and Coach Harry Monson, the Escanaba boy coaching at Iron River, was fit to be tied.

Nearly half of the British civilian deaths due to air raids occurred in London.

The annual election of officers will be included in the program.

BIG 9 CHAMPION MAY SEE BOWL

Winner Of Northwestern Michigan Game Picked Best Prospect

Los Angeles, Oct. 14. (AP)—The winner of the Michigan-Northwestern game Saturday versus the Pacific coast conference champion—probably UCLA—was the Jan. 1 Rose Bowl lineup predicted today by a close midwestern observer.

"Both Michigan and Northwestern, undefeated Big Nine contenders, are in favor of the proposed Rose Bowl tieup," Fred Delano, former Michigan publicity director, told football writers at their weekly meeting.

Delano, now with the Detroit pro Lions, said he was "reliably informed that the vote was at least five-to-four in favor of sending the conference champion to the Rose Bowl."

Coach Bert La Brucherie of UCLA dodged all Rose Bowl talk with the curt comment: "We're playing California this week."

Commissioner Vic Schmidt of the coast conference later said his office has received no word from the Western Conference. He refused to comment on Delano's prediction.

Fritsch brought his total point scoring for the day to 17 by booting two extra points. Augie Lio recorded the Eagles conversion, his straight in three games.

It was the tenth consecutive time the Eagles have lost to the Packers in league competition without a victory.

Rambling Gazelle Boy Is Find Of The Century

By HARRY GRAYSON

NEA Sports Editor

New York (NEA)—There were fewer scouts at the World Series this fall. College football scouts are not crowding writers out of press boxes these Saturday afternoons. Dan Ferriss, secretary-treasurer of the AAU, has been mysteriously missing from his office high in the Woolworth Building on lower Broadway.

The gazelle boy is proving quite an attraction in the Baghdad hospital, where he has been looked at hundreds of times, "chiefly by sports experts interested in his speed."

You no doubt have heard about the gazelle boy the men of Prince Fawez el Shaalan flushed up while hunting gazelles on the Transjordan desert.

"Although we were in an automobile, it took us two hours to catch up with the boy, who fell from exhaustion," the leader of the desert tribe is quoted as saying. The gazelle boy reputedly ran at a speed of 50 miles an hour.

"I think he is the fastest runner in the world, and that he could halve any record," says a Dr. Joubert, who examined him. You can say that again, Doc. If it is true that the gazelle boy ran at the rate of 50 miles an hour he'll quarter any mark, run those Swedes smack dab into the Baltic, beat Gunder Hagg with Herman Hickman on his back. The world record for an hour is 11 miles and 1648 yards, and it was hung up in Berlin, Oct. 27, 1928, by Paavo Nurmi, who wasn't any sloth.

Mr. AAU Ferriss would like nothing better than to celebrate Washington's Birthday and the opening of the winter season simultaneously by having the gazelle boy give the indoor mile and three-mile records a kicking around and then some at the Garden.

"Maybe," cables Mr. Ferriss, "our American runners would do better, too, if they were chased over the burning sand by hunters in automobiles with field rifles in their hands."

"If the gazelle boy only can hit," says Larry MacPhail, speaking for the baseball people. At 15 the Bounding Bedouin is just the right age for baseball or football development.

He has a child's probing curiosity, so should be in an apt student. This also fits him in with the rest of the ballplayers who are wondering what the owners are going to do with all that dough.

The gazelle boy, no relation to Mike Gazella, imitates everyone around him, is looking and learning, must be handled carefully if he is to get off on the right track. When first brought to the hospital, the gazelle boy made frequent attempts to escape, showing that he is alert and has the old college try. Pitchers couldn't take a windup with him on the bases.

Many specialists doubt that the gazelle boy, having spent his entire life with the antelopes, will ever use human speech, but a lot of football players can't talk, and being an orator would be of no assistance to talkback Pete Gazelle. And a net would be the prime requisite of the defense.

The gazelle boy has been living solely on plants, so wouldn't be the slightest problem with a meat famine on. All he asks it tender shoots. He could simply be turned out to graze as his own ground-keeper.

The gazelle boy is indeed the find of the century.
